CURTIS AGAINST REPEAL IN TALK OF ACCEPTANCE

Kansans Cheer Speech as He Voices Opposition to Return of Saloon.

CANDIDATE PRAISED BY G. O. P. LEADERS

Hoover Record Also Lauded at Ceremony; Sanders Sees Reelection.

Topeka, Kans., Aug. 18 (A.P.).—Vice President Charles Curtis today received official notification of his renomination for Vice President by the Republican party and accepted it with a speech in which he declared, amid cheers and applause from thousands of Kansans, his personal opposition to repeal of the eighteenth amendment.

"Personally," he said, "I am not only in favor of honestly and fearlessly enforcing all our laws, but further I am opposed to the return of the saloon and I am opposed to the repeal of the eighteenth amendment."

At a ceremony in keeping with formal tradition but without pomp, he not only accepted the nomination but received also, from the hands of Mrs. Carrie M. Sterling Pipes, of Wilmington, Del., Negress, school principal and a member of the notification committee, a Bible on which to take his oath of office next March.

5,000 Visitors Present.

The stately elms of the Statehouse lawn sheltered more than 5,000 visitors from the afternoon sun, many of them apparently farmers and a large percentage of the men in shirtsleeves.

The Vice President, flanked by such party notables as Senator Arthur Capper, chairman of the Topeka welcoming committee; Senator C. J. Dickinson, of Iowa, chairman of the notification committee, and Everett Sanders, chairman of the Republican campaign committee, declared his allegiance to the party platform, gave ringing approval of "President Hoover's admirable statement of Republican principles," and decried adverse criticisms of "the party under whose policies our Nation has become the greatest and most powerful in the world."

On the subject of prohibition he declared "it is impossible to ignore the Constitution."

"The Republican party," he went on, "pledges itself to the faithful enforcement and the vigorous execution of the eighteenth amendment and to prevent the return of the saloon.

Believes in Majority Rule.

"I believe in meeting the issue squarely; I am a strong believer in the rule of the majority and feel the people should at all times be given full opportunity to express their opinion on the Constitution or amendments thereto, but, personally, I am not only in favor of honestly and fearlessly enforcing all our laws, but further I am opposed to the return of the saloon and I am opposed

Democrats of Nevada Lead in Registration

Reno, Nev., Aug. 18 (A.P.).—For the first time in many years Democrats lead Republicans in registration in Nevada. The unofficial total of all counties in the State gives the Democrats 21,674 and Republicans 20,950. The total registration, including other parties, is slightly above 45,000.

Heavy Democratic registration at Boulder City was largely responsible for the gain, although inroads were made elsewhere, including the Republican stronghold of Reno.

Man Robs Woman Of $4,000 in Jewels

Flashes Gun as He Leaps on Running Board of Car; Takes 2 Rings.

Mrs. William W. Wirgman, of 2205 California street northwest, was held up and robbed last night of $4,000 worth of jewelry by a colored man who jumped on the running board of her car while she was driving near Sixteenth and Kalmia streets northwest.

Mrs. Wirgman told police she was going at a slow speed. The man jumped on the running board just after she passed the intersection and, with a gun in his hand, ordered her to stop. She said the bandit made her remove two rings from her hand, one of which was worth $3,000 and the other $1,000.

The man also took her pocketbook, containing a small amount of change, and ordered her to drive away.

Vice President's Address Accepting Nomination

Mr. Chairman, Senator Dickinson, members of the notification committee, friends and neighbors:

It gives me pleasure to add a word of welcome to these distinguished guests in the city of my birth. Let me say to you ladies and gentlemen that this vast assemblage of my fellow citizens is gathered without regard to party to show its good will to a lifelong neighbor, and to recognize a compliment paid him by your presence in this city today. Dull would I be in feeling and lacking in taste did I fail to sense this and to express gratitude for this generous manifestation of friendship. I thank you all for your presence and your esteem, which I shall ever prize and ever strive to merit.

Ladies and gentlemen of the committee, you represent the Republican voters of 48 States of the Union. You bear the commission of the Republican convention which met in Chicago in June. That convention declared anew our fidelity to the historic Republican party. Our purpose is to carry forward the work it has so well done since its organization and to promote the further progress of the United States. The convention adopted a platform which rings true for patriotism and constitutional government and worthily bestowed a renomination upon our present Chief Executive, Herbert Hoover.

You, ladies and gentlemen, notify me that the convention named me as the party's candidate for Vice President. Our party has but once before conferred a renomination for the office upon a Vice President and this distinction is appreciated and its value is augmented by the generous words in which you, Senator Dickinson, announce it. I assure you it gives me pleasure to accept. As a loyal Republican, a disciple of the party of Abraham Lincoln, I stand upon the party platform. I approve of Mr. Hoover's admirable statement of Republican principles and achievements contained in his address accepting the renomination for President.

The Republican party has never

BINGHAM SUPPORTS HOOVER ON DRY LAW

Wet Senator Sees Victory in Connecticut; Howell to Take Stump.

By LAWRENCE SULLIVAN.

Senator Hiram Bingham, of Connecticut, the leader of the repeal fight in the Republican convention at Chicago two months ago, told President Hoover during a White House visit yesterday that the prohibition policy outlined in the acceptance address last Thursday was acceptable to him and justified the prediction that the Hoover-Curtis ticket would carry Connecticut by a safe margin.

Himself a candidate for reelection in a State which has drifted overwhelmingly to the extreme wet end of the prohibition scale during the last two years, Senator Bingham recently has been characterized by some of his colleagues as the most militant wet in the Senate.

His assent to the President's stand was coupled with the statement that under the Chicago platform he reserved to himself the right to decide ways and means for carrying out the implied modification pledge of the acceptance address.

This the senator's friends interpreted as a promise that he would continue to lead the fight in the

Mrs. McCormick Sinks; Whole Family at Bedside

Chicago, Aug. 18 (A.P.).—Mrs. Edith Rockefeller McCormick tonight lay dangerously ill, at times in a coma, surrounded by all members of her immediate family.

Physicians, relatives and friends came and went faster and more frequently in hourly anticipation that the woman once known as the richest in the world would not reach the age of 60, although her birthday is only a fortnight away. The family which she reared with Harold F. McCormick, millionaire reaper manufacturer, was gathered together for the first time since their divorce 11 years ago, reunited by the serious illness of the wife and mother.

ROUND-TRIP AIRMAN WINGING TO AMERICA

Mollison Sighted 650 Miles Off Ireland; Sky Hides Further Progress.

St. John's, Newfoundland, Aug. 18 A.P.).—Somewhere above the tossing Atlantic—if all is well—Capt. J. A. Mollison was winging his way tonight on a shuttlecock flight between the old world and the new.

If he had maintained the speed of 105 miles an hour with which he started early today, he had long since passed the half-way point between Portmarnock and Harbor Grace and should reach his first destination with the coming of dawn.

The weather was on his side tonight, but he was bucking a forecast of southerly winds and rain, already tinged with fog to seaward. Assuming that he was flying high and following the shipping route, he would dodge many of the perils of the elements.

Portmarnock, Irish Free State, Aug. 18 (A.P.).—Capt. J. A. Mollison, who today left his bride of three weeks and took off on a projected round-trip flight to New York, was sighted this afternoon 650 miles off Ireland and going strong.

His bride, the former Amy Johnson, herself an eminent flier, watched his ship as it disappeared in the West.

"A fine start, anyhow," she said. "I have perfect faith in him and in that little bus. I think he's wonderful."

A few minutes later she got into a plane and sped away to catch up with him and accompany him on

U. S. Initials Trade Pact With Bulgaria

Sofia, Bulgaria, Aug. 18 (A.P.).—United States Minister Shoemaker and Premier Mouchanoff today initialed a provisory trade agreement with a most-favored-nation clause between the United States and Bulgaria.

It is effective immediately and will remain in effect until the conclusion of a regular trade treaty, or until abrogation by either party.

2-Cent Tax on Bank Checks Leads New U. S. Revenue

Gasoline Levy Receipts Are Reported Second by Treasury; Postal Volume Declines, But Higher Rates Expected to Erase Departmental Deficit.

(Associated Press.)

Bank checks and gasoline led the way in July in producing the largest amounts of revenue from the special excise and miscellaneous levies in the new billion dollar revenue act.

Though covering only the last nine days of June, the Treasury reported the 2-cent tax on bank checks produced $1,094,287, while the 1-cent gasoline levy brought in $539,461.

Next was the brewers' wort, malt, and grape concentrates tax, which produced $221,359; tires and tubes, $96,057, and soft drinks, $89,569.

The 3 per cent tax on automobiles and motorcycles returned $47,629; the 5 per cent levy on radios, $32,848, and $32,196.

The amount of taxes was small and the 3 percent tax on electrical energy while credited to July receipts actually comprised that collected for the last nine days of June and what the Internal Revenue Bureau termed a "dribble of current taxes" during July.

Most of the manufacturers' excise and miscellaneous taxes are payable the last day of the month for the preceding month so that the total actually due for July will not be paid into the Treasury until the last day of August.

The July receipts are held by bureau officials as bearing no comparative relation to the same nine-day period of succeeding months because consumers stocked up nearly all articles just before the new taxes went into effect June 21.

August receipts, covering July tax payments, are waited by tax experts as the first figure upon which the total yield from new levies for the year can be estimated.

Despite collections of nearly $3,000,000 in new and increased taxes, the total in July from all sources was $12,482,790 less than July, 1921. While the new levies brought in $2,732,731 and the increased tax on issues of stocks, bonds, &c., raised revenues in that bracket by $226,000, the total receipts were $61,686,467

MAYOR WALKER TAKES FIGHT TO SUPREME COURT

Obtains Order Requiring Roosevelt to Prove Right to Decide.

Mayor's Defense Continued Before Governor by Attorneys.

Executive Chamber, Albany, N. Y., Aug. 18 (A.P.).—Mayor James J. Walker, of America's largest city, today carried his fight against ouster proceedings into the courts, obtaining an order requiring Gov. Roosevelt to defend his right to continue a hearing and pass upon the fitness of Mr. Walker to retain his $40,000 a year position.

As John J. Curtin, chief counsel for Walker, argued before Roosevelt in Albany for a dismissal of the fifteen ouster charges against his client, a legal aid in Kingston obtained a Supreme Court order requiring the governor to show cause why his hands should not be tied by a permanent writ of prohibition. The governor was enjoined from ruling on Walker until the court tested his authority.

The court order was issued by Supreme Court Justice John T. Loughran, who made it returnable tomorrow before Justice Ellis J. Staley in Albany. Mr. Walker was represented at Kingston by John J. Glynn, nephew of former Gov. Alfred E. Smith, Mr. Roosevelt's chief rival for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Claims Constitutional Rights.

Curtin, talking for four hours, covered ten of the charges. He agreed to dispose of the remaining five within an hour and a half tomorrow. Tomorrow's session, the seventh of the hearing, will open at 11 a. m., Eastern standard time, two hours after the Supreme Court meets to consider the Walker petition.

In his petition challenging the governor's power, Walker said he had been denied his constitutional rights before the Hofstadter legislative committee and by Mr. Roosevelt.

The mayor argued that ten of the charges referred to his first administration and were outlawed.

The Loughran order called upon Mr. Roosevelt to explain "why he should not be absolutely restrained from proceeding further with the hearing." Pending settlement of the argument, Mr. Roosevelt was re-

Women Continue Flight for Record

Two in Endurance Test to Pass Goal of 122 Hours at 1:20 p. m. Today.

Valley Stream, N. Y., Aug. 18 (A.P.) Less than a day from their goal—the women's endurance flight record—Mrs. Frances Marsalis and Mrs. Louise Thaden continued to soar over Curtiss Field tonight.

Rain pelted their plane and even worse weather was expected, but the women indicated in notes dropped to the ground they had no intention of coming down—not even tomorrow afternoon. If they remain aloft they will equal the record of 122 hours and 20 minutes at 1:20 p. m. (Eastern standard time) tomorrow and they will be the new record holders one hour later.

Ground watchers remained apprehensive concerning the physical welfare of Mrs. Marsales, who reported pains in her side last night. A clinical thermometer was sent up today, but if she recorded her temperature she gave no indication of it to the ground crew.

3 Navy Tugs Free Grounded Saratoga

Accident to Huge Aircraft Carrier Is Blamed on Heavy Fog.

Long Beach, Calif., Aug. 18 (U.P.). The huge aircraft carrier Saratoga, which went aground at Sunset Beach, south of here, late today, was hauled to safety tonight by three Navy tugs. The 960-foot craft, one of the Navy's two biggest vessels, proceeded under her own steam to the San Pedro anchorage just three hours after it ran aground in a dense local fog.

Long Beach, Calif., Aug. 18 (A.P.). News of the Saratoga's grounding sent thousands of automobiles seaward and the coast highways became congested to the point of impassibility.

The great vessel was en route from gunnery practice at sea to her anchorage at San Pedro. While no official report has been made public, foggy weather was believed to have been responsible for the accident.

TRIMBLE RULES LOANS OF R. F. C. WILL BE PUBLIC

Ends Controversy With Decision on Law's Meaning.

FIGHT FOR PUBLICITY WAS LED BY GARNER

Clause Opposed by Hoover; First Report Will Be Revealed Monday.

(Associated Press.)

Loans by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation subsequent to July 21 will be made public under a ruling yesterday by South Trimble, Clerk of the House.

The House official's decision follows a controversy which raged during the enactment of the unemployment relief bill over making public information about loans by the corporation to banks and financial institutions.

The House, led by Speaker Garner, inserted the "publicity" clause, requiring the corporation to report monthly to the House and Senate. Despite administration objections, the Senate approved the clause after several leaders, both Democratic and Republican, held it did not require that the reports should be made public.

First Report Monday.

Trimble withheld until Monday the first monthly report, for the ten-day period from July 21 to August 1, filed with him Wednesday. He explained he had been advised by counsel to permit 30 days to elapse after the relief bill became effective, which was July 21. On that date President Hoover signed it and characterized the publicity clause as "obnoxious."

In announcing his decision, Trimble, who was clerk when Champ Clark was Speaker, made public a brief giving his reasons and reviewing Senate and House debate on the provision. He cited that the Reconstruction Corporation objected to it on the ground that "all loans made would become public property."

"It appears," Trimble said, "from the explanatory statements made by the committee members in charge of the bill in course of passage that it was the intent and purpose of Congress that the reports submitted by the Reconstruction Corporation under section 201 (B) are to be made public. It is, therefore, my duty to permit the reports filed with me to be open to public inspection."

Explains Decision.

Walking into his office promptly at the time set to make public his decision, Trimble greeted a large group of newspapermen with a smile and said:

"Gentlemen, your agony is about over. But, mine has just begun."

The corporation, he said, had complied with the law in filing the first monthly report with him, and the "bone of contention" under the law

Policeman Slays Youthful Prowler

Connole, Attached to White House Patrol, Detained After Shooting.

A White House policeman is being detained for a coroner's inquest into the death of an unidentified colored youth of about 19 years of age, who was shot to death last night in the rear of the policeman's home at 214 Seventeenth street northeast. Ignatius Connole, 36, the policeman, said the youth reached for his hip pocket as if to draw a pistol.

In a statement made to Inspector L. I. H. Edwards, of the Metropolitan Police, Connole said the shooting occurred after he had twice seen the youth lurking in some bushes back of his home.

Connole said he got two neighbors and attempted to sneak up on the youth. The prowler detected him, he said, attempted to flee, stumbled and reached for his hip pocket as he did so. Connole said he shot once. The bullet entered the youth's neck above the spine. An inquest was set for 11 a. m. today.

Polish President's Wife Expires at 62

Warsaw, Poland, Aug. 18 (A.P.).—Mme. Michalina Moscicki, the first lady of Poland, died today in the presidential residence after a protracted illness. She was 62.

She is survived by her husband, President Ignace Mosciciki; two sons in the diplomatic service and a daughter. Official mourning has been declared throughout Poland pending the completion of funeral arrangements.

Ruling by Clerk of House On Publicity for Loans

The text of the ruling by South Trimble, clerk of the House on publicity for Reconstruction Finance Corporation loans follows:

The Reconstruction Finance Corporation has submitted its first monthly report as required by section 201 (b) of the emergency relief and construction act of 1932 approved July 21, 1932. (Public No. 302, 72d Cong.)

The question has been raised as to whether the monthly reports filed with the clerk of the House of Representatives while Congress is not in session are open to public inspection.

Section 201 (b) of the act provides:

"The Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall submit monthly to the President and to the Senate and the House of Representatives (or the secretary of the Senate and the clerk of the House of Representatives, if these bodies are not in session) a report of its activities and expenditures under this section and under the Reconstruction Finance Corporation act, together with a statement showing the names of the borrowers to whom loans and advances were made and the amount and rate of interest involved in each case."

The statute specifically provides for the filing of monthly reports with the clerk of the House of Representatives when Congress is not in session. It does not appear, however, from a reading of the statute for what purpose the reports are filed.

Throughout the consideration of this provision in the House of Representatives there was common agreement in the debates that the purpose of requiring the monthly reports was publicity. The sponsor of the bill stated that the object of the amendment was to compel the filing of statements of loans thereafter made under the original Reconstruction Finance Corporation act in order that the people may know what becomes of their money. The members that spoke against the adoption of the amendment stated they were opposed to the publication of the loans. No member expressed an opinion that the monthly reports were required for any purpose other than publication. During the consideration of

PICCARD IS PLEASED BY 10-MILE ASCENT

Lands Safely in Italy With Young Aid After Breaking All Altitude Marks.

Cavallaro di Monzanrano, Italy, Aug. 18 (A.P.).—Prof. Auguste Piccard and Max Cosyns, both a little bit shaky, came back to earth from the stratosphere today after having ascended to the highest altitude ever reached by man.

Their altitude was 16,700 meters, or 54,776 feet. On the professor's first flight last year the top height was 51,793 feet.

"We are very well satisfied with our flight," the professor said, while hundreds of gaping farmers stood about staring at men who had been far above the rain and the clouds in a little aluminum ball attached to a balloon.

Prof. Piccard, 48 years old, lean, his head crowned by a shaggy mass of hair, and his 25-year-old assistant, took off at 5:06 o'clock this morning (11:06 p. m. Wednesday, Eastern standard time) at Dubendorf, on the other side of the Alps in Switzerland. They were in the air about twelve hours.

He said that three hours after they took off they reached their maximum height. From that vantage point the world was a strange looking place. Landmarks were indistinct and maps were of little value.

Only the large lakes below him served to indicate to Prof. Piccard exactly what part of the earth he was over. He recognized Lake Garda, 12 miles northwest of this village, and decided to land. It took him more than two hours to bring down his balloon.

The Belgian scientist's first thought after his aluminum ball had bumped

Brother Says Piccard Plans Canadian Ascent

Wilmington, Del., Aug. 18 (A.P.).—Dr. Jean Piccard, whose brother, Prof. Auguste Piccard, set a new altitude record by his ascent into the stratosphere, said tonight the professor will make a similar trip from the Hudson Bay region some time in the near future.

BALL SHORTAGE CASE GOES TO JURY TODAY

Defense Calls 18 Character Witnesses for Arlington Former Treasurer.

The case of E. Wade Ball, former Arlington County treasurer, will reach the jury today. Yesterday saw both defense and prosecution complete presentation of testimony at Ball's trial before Judge Walter T. McCarthy in Arlington Circuit Court on charges of misuse of public funds.

Final argument by Commonwealth's Attorney Lawrence Douglas, prosecutor, and Crandal Mackey and Frank L. Ball, defense attorneys, will be heard this morning. Following Judge McCarthy will instruct the jury.

The jury was released yesterday afternoon while the lawyers presented their arguments for instructions of the jury to Judge McCarthy. These requests were not made public.

Ball was not called to testify in his own behalf. The defense witnesses were eighteen prominent citizens of Arlington who said that Ball's reputation for honesty and integrity was excellent.

The defense also called to the stand C. T. Merchant, vice president of the Arlington Trust Co. He testified that in May $6,600 was deposited by Ball to his account as treasurer by checks on his personal account in the Citizens National Bank of Alexandria.

Japan Accuses Chinese Of Arousing Hostility

Shanghai, China, Aug. 18 (A.P.).—The Japanese consul general today handed Mayor Wu Teh-Chen a vigorous protest charging that Chinese terrorist organizations are reviving the anti-Japanese boycott. In addition to these efforts by "lawless Chinese elements," he charged the Chinese chambers of commerce also are supporting the movement.

Further than that, he said, Chinese newspapers are giving assistance by printing "articles encouraging hostility toward Japan." He expressed apprehension that the situation "is likely again to assume a grave aspect unless the Chinese authorities control the boycott agitators."

Illinois Troops to Face 15,000 Miners in "March"

Situation Is Tense as Grim Foes of Pay Scale Reduction Mass at Taylorville, Ill., for Picketing of Coal Operations.

Taylorville, Ill., Aug. 18 (A.P.).—With National Guardsmen ordered to move into the district and 7 a. m. set as the hour when wholesale picketing of mines will be started, an atmosphere of tensity gripped this turbulent Illinois coal region tonight.

A grim and motley throng of some 15,000 central and southern Illinois coal diggers late today completed their "March on Taylorville," intent upon stopping local coal mines from operating under a reduced wage scale.

Four National Guard units—infantry, cavalry and machine gunners—were ordered to entrain at midnight from Camp Grant, near Rockford, where the rest of the militia is in training camp.

Strike leaders, however, pushed plans to prevent several hundred local miners, who are satisfied with the new $5 daily wage, from resuming work in the morning. There was little disorder as mass meetings were held.

Six National Guard planes returned to Rockford after reconnoitering over the caravans of miners.

The guard troops were ordered to Decatur and Springfield, 30 miles away, where they will be ready for action if plans for peaceful picketing result in open violence. In Christian County 1,500 deputies and vigilantes have been armed.

The miners are protesting a $5 basic daily wage scale, reduced from $6.10. A vote taken through the Illinois organization of the United Mine Workers of America, they allege, was fraudulent. Stealing of ballots in the vote a week ago was the first outbreak of trouble.

The southern section of the parading miners reached Taylorville this afternoon and pitched camp to await arrival of another contingent from the Springfield area.

Two mines in this area—the Taylorville, employing about 300 men at the $5 scale, and the Kincaid, where 71 were at work—were the first objects of the caravans.

It was there that authorities feared trouble might break out, if the working miners attempt to go to the mines tomorrow.

DAVIS DEMANDS QUICK TRIAL ON LOTTERY COUNT

Shrine, Moose and Eagle Orders Mentioned in Indictments.

6 OTHER PROMINENT MEN IN FEDERAL NET

Accused Fraternal Officials Deny Breaking Laws; "Drawings" Cited.

(Associated Press.)

Senator Davis, of Pennsylvania, in a statement given out at his office yesterday, said he would ask for an immediate trial on an indictment returned against him in New York in connection with an alleged fraternal lottery.

The statement was telephoned by Senator Davis to his Washington office. There it was said it was not known where he was calling from.

"I have been informed," the statement said, "that an indictment has been returned against me as well as a number of very prominent fraternal leaders.

"I have sent for a copy of the indictment and I shall engage counsel and ask for an immediate trial.

"I am sure these charges will prove false.

"I ask the people, especially those of Pennsylvania, to withold judgment until the trial."

Seven Individuals Accused.

New York, Aug. 18 (U.P.).—The Federal Government today took the first concerted step to eliminate lotteries from every day American practice since the notorious Louisiana lottery was closed in 1890.

A Federal grand jury returned indictments that named seven individuals, including United States Senator James J. (Puddler Jim) Davis (Republican), of Pennsylvania, and the Western Union Telegraph Co. as participants in illegal lotteries.

Three national fraternal organizations, with millions of members, were mentioned in the indictments, but were not held responsible as organizations. They were the Shriners, a branch of the Masons; the Loyal Order of Moose and the Fraternal Order of Eagles.

Membership Drives Covered.

The indictments covered membership drives and the sale of tickets to various entertainments conducted by the three organizations in the past two years. The total sum brought in by these drives and ticket sales, which the indictments classified as lotteries, was estimated at $5,000,000.

Senator Davis, a Cabinet member under three Presidents and known in every hamlet of the United States through his dominance of the affairs of the Moose, was the most prominent of those indicted. But the seven included other national figures.

Conrad H. Mann, of Kansas City, is head of the Eagles, recipient of many honors, and a close friend of President Hoover. Frank E. Herring, editor of the Eagles Magazine, is a trustee of Notre Dame University and once ran for Congress. He is from South Bend, Ind. Theodore G. Miller, of Mooseheart, Ill., head of the propagation department of the Moose, is considered Davis' right-hand man in the direction of that order.

Others Indicted.

The others indicted were: Bernard C. McGuire, head of the H. C. McGuire Co., of Aurora, Ill.; Raymond Walsh, of Philadelphia, his assistant, and M. J. Rivise, New York, commercial agent of the Western Union.

If convicted and given the penalty for each of the eleven counts of the

CURTIS' OPPOSITION TO REPEAL CHEERED

to the repeal of the eighteenth amendment."

The Vice President was introduced briefly by Senator Dickinson, who hailed the Republican program of reconstruction as the "most liberal program of Government aid" and said, "within ourselves and our trade relations with each other can be found the first encouragement for recovery of stability."

He lauded Curtis as "one fixed in fundamentals of government, with a firm grasp on our tribulations, seasoned in service, polished in the art of leadership.

Sanders Predicts Reelection.

Sanders, who presided, called the meeting an historic occasion and recalled the ceremony four years ago at which Curtis accepted his first nomination and went out with Hoover to win a sweeping victory.

Previously he told newspapermen that President Hoover and Vice President Curtis will be reelected, that the favorable reaction to the Hoover acceptance address has been the most remarkable in political history and that the party is fortunate in having again the team of leaders which won four years ago.

The scene of the ceremony was only a few blocks from Curtis' old red brick home on Topeka boulevard and, as the Vice President spoke, he turned his face toward the site of the log cabin in which he was born—across the Kaw River in North Topeka.

Helped Kaw Indians.

The man who, 60 years ago, hiked 75 miles to bring help for the Kaw tribe of Indians against raiding Cheyennes, was carefully dressed in a dark coat and white trousers, wearing a striped tie and a flower at his lapel.

Just below the small bunting-wrapped speakers' stand, high up on the steps, was an American Legion color guard, below on the broad landing, flanked by camera men, the band of Capital Post No. 1, American Legion, lent color.

Most of the men in the crowd, which, seeking shade, had unconsciously grouped itself in the form of the United States map, were in shirt sleeves, although the day was sunny and cool and a brisk breeze blowing.

The Vice President brought cheers, whistling and applause from the citizens of the State of Carrie Nation when he opened his reference to the prohibition subject with Washington's statement: "The Constitution * * * until changed by an explicit and authentic act of the whole people, is sacredly obligatory upon all."

Opposed to Saloon.

"The Republican platform," he said, "makes no distinction as to the Republicanism of the members of the party because of their stand on the prohibition question.

"People may differ as to the wisdom of the enactment of a particular piece of legislation or amending the Constitution, but it is impossible to ignore the Constitution."

The Vice President's campaigning sister and official hostess, Mrs. Edward Everett Gann—"Dolly" Gann to her Topeka and Washington neighbors—and his daughter, Mrs. Webster Knight 2d, of Providence, R. I., who was a delegate to the Kansas City convention in 1928 and seconded her father's nomination, were watching him with interest when he said:

"No evolution in human history is more important than the expansion of the powers and privileges of modern women. The women of our country have made a great fight, accomplished much; it has been gratifying to note the important part they have taken in the management and control of the country's affairs."

Another Sister Present.

Mrs. Rome Colvin, of Topeka, another sister, was in the family party.

Twice in his acceptance speech, Curtis paid tribute to his running mate, President Hoover. In discussing tariff and immigration he termed it fortunate "in these times of world-wide liquidation, stagnation and readjustment," that there was in the White House a President "sensing the situation at its very start, with real statesmanship and administrative foresight."

Again he said of him:

"No President ever worked harder to improve conditions; none ever took the people into his confidence as has the careful organizer, the great student of the needs of our people—Herbert Hoover."

The Vice President linked tariff and immigration restriction together as twin measures which "account largely for American wages being more than in any other country, standards of living higher, hours of labor shorter, working conditions better."

Talks on Farm Question.

He sketched briefly his own part in the Republican efforts to improve the condition of farmers, outlined the efforts made by Congress to solve the farm problem in the last eleven years and regretted "most of them (the measures passed) have not come up to the expectation of those who introduced and supported them."

"The farmers and stockmen of Kansas remember quite well their troubles began after the great World War, in the fall of 1919," he said.

He credited the present administration with success in its efforts to put hoarded idle money in circulation, as a result of which, he said, the per capita money in circulation, which was $36.30 in October, 1930, rose to $45.50, June 30, 1932.

He described as necessary the application of the principles of the American system of protection, but added, "we must not repose in fancied security, thinking we can forever sell everything and buy little or nothing. Reciprocity is the natural outgrowth of our wonderful industrial development."

Mellon's Leave Extended.

(Associated Press.)

Andrew W. Mellon has been granted permission by the State Department to remain away from his ambassadorial post in London for another week or so. Mellon had originally planned to begin his return trip today. In asking for the extension he pointed out that Parliament is not in session and said his immediate presence in England was not necessary.

CURTIS' ADDRESS OF ACCEPTANCE

claimed to possess within its membership a monopoly of patriotism and virtue. Just as in the period of the World War we Republicans put patriotism and loyalty to our country above party politics, so in the present economic crisis I was pleased indeed to witness in the last session that our friends on the other side of the aisle put patriotism above politics and supported many of the recommendations of our President, Herbert Hoover.

Upon three different occasions since I have been in public life and when very serious situations existed I have seen both sides of the aisle stand by the President regardless of party lines. The first was in 1898, the second during the World War and the third during the last two and one-half years.

PROTECTION.

We should not only retain our home market, but we should build it up and increase it as much as possible. This is necessary not only to give American labor employment, but also to procure for agriculture a just reward for its labor. If the farmer can not sell, he can not buy. Likewise if American laborers are unemployed they can not buy and when these two are unable to buy there is a decline in the demand for American-made goods and for American products.

The extent to which the wage earners of the country can purchase depends upon the extent of their employment and the amount of wages earned by them. There must be an ability to buy, whatever may be the price, high or low, at which the thing desired is sold. So the two great problems which we must solve are to secure employment for the unemployed and to make a market for the products of the farm and factory. The application of the principles of the American system of protection is necessary in order to keep out of our country goods which come into competition with our home-made goods and home-grown products.

We produce a surplus of many products and articles in this country which the markets of other countries must seek and have. These articles should be handled in a way which would give our producers the command of the market where such articles are needed.

It was the great protectionist, our martyred President William McKinley, who in his last great speech recommended the adoption of a system which would provide a mutual exchange of commodities. He said, "A mutual exchange is manifestly essential to the continued and healthful growth of our export trade. We must not repose in fancied security that we can forever sell everything and buy little or nothing. We should take from our customers such of their products as we can use without harm to our industries and labor. Reciprocity is the natural growth of our wonderful industrial development under the domestic policy now firmly established. What we produce beyond our domestic consumption must have a sale abroad. The excess must be relieved through a foreign outlet and we should sell everything we can, and buy wherever the buying will enlarge our sales and products and thereby make a greater demand for home labor."

Since President McKinley made this statement with respect to export trade the sales of American merchandise abroad have experienced a great expansion. During the past two years, to be sure, they have suffered a temporary, but severe decline as a result of the world depression. Yet in 1931 our exports were still valued at the tremendous sum of $2,424,000,000, compared with only $1,370,000,000 in 1900.

In certain of intervening years our American export business reached total values that have never been approached by any other nation. This was, in part at least, a direct consequence of our vigorous governmental policy of trade promotion. We have representatives of our Department of Commerce in every important market center of the world. Energetic, consistent and fruitful are words that may truly be applied to the foreign trade promotive activities of the American Government in recent years.

IMMIGRATION.

The fear of a deluge of immigrants from war-stricken Europe resulted in the passage on May 20, 1924, of a drastic restrictive immigration law. The wisdom of this policy of protecting American workingmen by the rigid restriction of immigration can not be doubted. The result of the enactment of the law in 1924 has been beneficial to the working men of the United States; beneficial to those foreign born as well as to those born in this country. The number of immigrants admitted to the United States from all countries in 1914 was 1,218,480 while only 303,338 departed. In 1928 after the law had been amended the number admitted dropped to 290,297 and 77,599 departed. In 1931 when the law was rigidly inforced only 43,353 were admitted while 33,186 departed, of which departures of 18,868 were by deportation. The reports show that during this present year more have departed than have been admitted. The intelligent devotion to the task of Americanization given by the Daughters of the American Revolution and other patriotic societies in their dealings with the foreign-born who came to this country in good faith; the rigid enforcement of the immigration law; and the deportation of alien criminals, racketeers and other undesirables, have been helpful to all our people.

Having briefly covered the tariff and the immigration questions separately I desire now to consider them jointly. Periods of economic depression and after-war, world-wide readjustment, such as every Nation is now going through, apply the acid test to party policies, administrative acts and legislative enactments. In these trying times of world-wide economic disturbances Republican tariffs and immigration restrictions account largely for American wages being more than in any other country. Not only are our wages higher than in any other land, but American standards of living are far higher, hours of labor shorter and working conditions better than in any other Nation.

The object of a tariff is to benefit and protect our workingmen from the lower wages, longer hours and lower standards of living of other countries and to protect our manufacturers and American producers in every industry and insure them our markets. The Republican party by its twin tariff and immigration restriction planks recognizes that our first duty is to our own and those already here, native or foreign born alike.

It is indeed fortunate that in these times of world-wide liquidation, stagnation and readjustment there were on the Federal statute books tariff and immigration laws placed there by Republican administrations, and that there was in the White House a President who sensing the situation at its very start, with real statesmanship and administrative foresight and a keen regard for the workers and the people, two years ago adopted a policy intended to prevent any more job hunters starting for the United States. This action has done more good than any other thing could have done to avert more increased unemployment, more human misery and more human suffering.

AGRICULTURE.

Because of the desire of the Republican party to aid and assist the farmers of our country I think it important to refer briefly to some of the departmental and congressional efforts to relieve some of the adverse conditions affecting the farmers.

The farmers and stockmen of Kansas remember quite well their troubles began after the great World War, in the fall of 1919 when the deflation policy of the Federal Reserve system was inaugurated. At the time I was attending a meeting at Eureka, Kans., when I was called upon by a number of farmers and stockmen who informed me that they had been notified they must take up their obligations which were soon to become due. This would force them not only to flood the markets with cattle and hogs but to do so even before the animals were ready for the market. Of course, it meant ruin to these men. I made a trip to Washington in their behalf and was soon joined by a committee of 28 farmers and stockmen but we were unable to get relief.

This was followed by the importation from other countries of a flood of agricultural products in 1920. The importation of such product in the year amounted to, in round numbers, $3,000,000,000. This was disastrous to the American farmer and resulted in the demand for and the enactment of the emergency tariff act of 1921 to protect farm products. This act and the regular act that followed resulted in a drop of over $1,000,000,000 in the importation of agricultural products the first year it was in operation.

The Congress has been trying to solve the farm problem for the last eleven years, and in that time between 25 and 30 bills have been enacted into law, with the hope and expectation that they would give agriculture the greatly needed and deserved relief, but I regret to say that while some of them have helped to some extent, yet most of them have not come up to the expectation of those who introduced and supported them. While this problem has not been and should not be partisan, yet the Republican party wishes to solve it and is anxious to bring the farmer into a situation of equality with industry. One of the problems is to reduce the spread between what the producer on the farm and what the ultimate consumer pays for such products. Another is to provide the farmers better marketing facilities. I have for years believed a national cooperating system would help solve the problem, and I still believe such a system properly organized and conducted would enable the farmer to get a better price for his products and at the same time do no injury to those who deal honestly in the buying and selling of farm products, while protecting the farmer against those who will not give him a square deal.

Our party can not be charged with having neglected the question, because since March 4, 1921, it has enacted into law various measures intended to solve the problem. These acts were not only supported by the various farm organizations, but many of them were proposed by such organizations. This is evidenced by the report of the American Farm Bureau Federation of April 6, 1923, from which I quote the following: "The passing of the Sixty-seventh Congress into history marks an epoch in the undertaking of the American Farm Bureau's national legislative campaign.

"It is not too much to say that the 26 laws passed by that Congress, which were initiated or supported by us, are of far more importance to American agriculture than all the legislation relating to agriculture passed since the adoption of our Constitution."

Since then a tariff act has been passed which materially increased the duty on the products of the farm. The 1930 tariff act increased the rates on agricultural products by 30 per cent and on industrial products only 12 per cent. Since its enactment world conditions have been such that its main benefit has been to shut out the products of agriculture coming from other countries, but the condition of the consumers in our own country has been such that there has been a greatly depressed home market. This condition at home will be cured when our own people have a greater purchasing power, which can only be brought about when our working men are employed at reasonable and just wages. I was privileged to introduce two measures to relieve the agricultural situation. One was to provide for a national cooperative marketing organization. It gave the farmers complete control of the organization. It made provision for the farmers to be informed as to supply and demand. It enabled the producers through their organization to hold their nonperishable products in case of an oversupply in the market centers. There was no handling, either buying or selling, of farm products by the Government.

This measure was pronounced sound by many of the leading friends and supporters of the farmers in Congress and it was unanimously reported from the committee on agriculture of the Senate on June 6, 1924. It was claimed that it would take time to work out its provisions and that emergency legislation was needed so this measure introduced by me was not acted upon by the Congress. The other measure which I introduced was one of the 26 that received favorable consideration. It made provision for the Government to invest $50,000,000 to help the Federal Land Banks to meet the applications of the farmers for loans. One of the members of the board expressed his approval in the following terms:

"I can hardly conceive of anything that you might have done which is going to have such far-reaching and lasting beneficial effect upon the agricultural situation now and in the future."

In this last Congress further relief was given to the farm loan banks.

In addition to the legislative enactments of a general nature the Republican administration has sponsored special relief measures for conditions brought about by floods, droughts, the fruit fly and grasshopper plague.

The Republican party has always considered that the various industries of our country were entitled to equal and fair consideration at the hands of the Congress and the national administration.

I have always had the greatest confidence in the fairness of the American people and I know of no reason for the people criticizing the party under whose policies great and important questions have been solved and which is anxious to settle all questions in the best interest of all our people, and under whose policies our Nation has become the greatest and most powerful in the world.

GOVERNMENT ACTIVITIES.

The President has given special attention to the machinery of government and has asked Congress to authorize him to consolidate the governmental agencies with a view of increasing efficiency and reducing the cost of administration. For years there has been a continuous expansion of governmental functions in every direction, and a necessary increase in expenditures. There should be a systematic investigation and reorganization of governmental agencies with a view to eliminating duplications and of uniting bureaus when union is possible without impairing the efficiency of the departments. Four years ago I advocated the abolishment of all unnecessary boards and commissions and the consolidation of bureaus. I was encouraged to do this because of the savings brought about by the movement started by me some 20 years ago, to authorize the President to consolidate the ports of entry. This was authorized and $300,000 a year has been saved every year since the order of consolidation was signed on March 4, 1913, by President Taft. Since then a few other consolidations have been brought about and every one has resulted in a saving in expenditures. It is pleasing to note that the President has been authorized to a limited extent to make consolidations and it is believed that the result will be beneficial and that the savings will be worth while. I hope changes may be made that will result in a reduction of taxes in place of increasing them. Expenses of government should be reduced wherever and whenever it is possible to do so. A policy should be adopted that will bring our governmental expenses within its income.

WOMEN IN THE TASK OF GOVERNMENT AND THEIR RECOGNITION BY THE REPUBLICANS.

No evolution in human history is more important than the expansion of the powers and privileges of modern women. The women of our country have made a great fight and accomplished much in their contest for legal, educational, occupational and political freedom, and it was not until our own generation that equality with men before the law was extended to the women.

It was a pleasure to me to take an early stand for women suffrage and to assist those who came to Washington in their efforts to secure the submission of the nineteenth amendment granting Nation-wide suffrage to their sex. I have always supported legislation beneficial to the women of the country.

It has been gratifying to note the important part they have taken in the management and control of the country's affairs; and the efforts they have made to enforce recognition of, and improvement in, their own particular problems. The women of this country have done their full part in assisting in the task of good government and they have been of great help in advancing and supporting questions of vital concern to every citizen of our country.

The Republican party has welcomed and encouraged them in their efforts in every way and it believes in, and practices, the principles of full equality between men and women. It has taken this position because women have borne their full share of responsibility in government.

LABOR.

It can be safely said that never in the history of labor movements, anywhere, have such distinct gains been made toward the realization of labor's laudable aims as have been made in our own country.

The hours of labor have been reduced generally from ten and twelve to eight. Inventions, improved machinery, and changed conditions have caused a new goal of 40 hours a week to be set by labor and in my mind it will be reached before long. The five day week should and will come.

The rise of organized labor is the story of muscle and brawn united with intelligence—labor in fighting for its rights meets intelligence with intelligence; reason with reason, and facts with facts.

The strikes of the past have largely disappeared and in their place has come the ever-increasing recognition of the wisdom of arbitration and cooperation. Today it is gratifying to note that the workers and the employers realize that they are complementary to and dependent upon each other, and that if either is to prosper they must be allies, not enemies.

We all desire to see labor fully employed at good wages, for this means an increase in the purchasing power of the country which is so much needed at this time by the producers on the farms and in the factories of our land.

MONEY IN CIRCULATION.

The present administration has taken active steps to put hoarded and idle money in circulation; in other words, to put it to work in industry so as to give labor employment and to add to the purchasing power of our people.

The records show that it has been successful in its efforts. When the crash came in October, 1929, there was $40.23 per capita in circulation; the amount decreased to $36.30 in October, 1930. Since then the amount in circulation has increased, and on June 30, 1932, the amount per capita in circulation was $45.50.

THE CONSTITUTION.

It seems to me that the statement on the Constitution and the manner of its amendment made by the great statesman, the bicentennial of whose birth all the people of our country are celebrating this year, George Washington, might with propriety be repeated tdoay. He said:

"This Government, the offspring of our own choice, uninfluenced and unawed, adopted upon full investigation and mature deliberation, completely free in its principles, in the distribution of its powers, uniting security with energy and containing within itself a provision for its own amendment, has a just claim to your confidence and your support. Respect for its authority, compliance with its laws, acquiesence in its measures, are duties enjoined by the fundamental maxims of true liberty. The basis of our political systems is the right of the people to make and alter their constitutions of government. But the Constitution which at any time exists, until changes by an explicit and authentic act of the whole people, is sacredly obligatory upon all."

The Republican platform recognizes the fact that the people should have full opportunity for the expression of their will on the question of amending the Constitution and makes no distinction as to the Republicanism of the members of the party because of their stand on the prohibition question. It clearly points out that the Constitution provides the manner in which amendments to it may be made, and if changes are desired in it, they should be made in the way the Constitution designates.

While the people may differ as to the wisdom of the enactment of a particular piece of legislation, or as to the amending of the Constitution, it is impossible to ignore the Constitution.

The Republican party pledges itself to the faithful enforcement and the vigorous execution of the eighteenth amendment to the Constitution and to oppose the return of the saloon.

I believe in meeting the issue squarely; I am a strong believer in the rule of the majority and feel that the people should at all times be given full opportunity to express their opinion on the Constitution or amendments thereto, but personally, I am not only in favor of honestly and fearlessly enforcing all our laws but further I am opposed to the return of the saloon and I am opposed to the repeal of the eighteenth amendment.

LOYALTY TO THE COMMON GOOD.

Today there is in this country a loyalty to the common good among our people which will go forth to rout the economic peril which hangs over us. It is not confined to one sect or creed, it is universal. We have gone through many such periods since the organization of the Republic, but our people have come out of every one of them and gone forward with greater speed and our Nation has become stronger and more powerful each and every year since its organization until today it is the leading Nation of the World.

When we read of the depressions of the past which have given our people so much concern and read how little was done to check them by the national administration then in power, and then recall what has been done by the present administration to bring relief we are justly proud of what has been done and we feel sure that in time such efforts are bound to succeed.

At the outset of the depression the President called a conference of the leaders in every walk of life in this country. He formulated a building program which included the erection of public buildings and works, the construction of highways, the improvement of rivers and harbors, &c. This provided employment for a large number of American laborers; it created a market for material and caused the expenditure of millions of dollars.

Upon his recommendation the Congress enacted a number of measures intended to bring relief to our people, among which was the Reconstruction Finance Corporation. By the way, there is quite a wrong impression in regard to the loans made by the organization. While it is true that it has helped some of the larger banks, yet of the 3,600 banks and trust companies assisted by it 70 per cent of the relief has gone to banks and trust companies in cities of less than 5,000 population, 78 per cent in those of less than 10,000, and 86 per cent in those of less than 25,000 population. The Glass-Steagall measure, the tax bill, the economy measure and others have been enacted into law. I know the hearty cooperation of members of both political parties in the enactment of relief measures recommended by the President is deeply appreciated by the people. The President has so fully covered the economy and relief legislation that it is unnecessary for me to go into those subjects. We all know our country has a bright future; that when this business depression is over we will go forward as we have after every period of depression. Never before have the people in our own country worked harder, done so much planning and given as much thought and consideration to existing conditions with the view of making things better.

This is as it should be, because we are all more deeply concerned in the situation in our own country than we are in any other, though we wish other countries well and hope they may soon recover from their troubles and their depressions. We realize that this is a world-wide depression and know that anything to improve conditions in other parts of the world will help our own country. We are, therefore, ready to help other countries in every way possible, provided we are not drawn into their political quarrels, and this has been shown on many occasions, but this does not mean a cancellation of our foreign debts. Personally I am opposed to cancellation and I know the sentiment of a large majority of the members of the House and Senate is the same on that question. We are first anxious about our own depression, our own unemployment and our own troubles, and these we shall solve by a continued united effort of our own farmers, our own business men, our own laboring men and our own financial and industrial leaders.

I have great faith in the future of our wonderful country because there never were greater men and greater women than those we have today and we shall change the present times into prosperity because of the efforts of these men and women who are working together and doing so much for our beloved country. In my opinion there ought to be established in society such an order of things that everywhere the aged and dependent may have a place of refuge and the poor employment and food. We were the last great country to feel the cold hard grip of depression and I feel sure we will be the first to recover. May that time come soon is the prayer of our people.

No President in peace times ever had so many difficult problems to solve, no President ever worked harder to improve conditions, and none ever took the people into his confidence as has the careful organizer, the great student of the needs of our people—Herbert Hoover.

BINGHAM SUPPORTS HOOVER ON DRY LAW

December session of Congress for a positive legislative step toward carrying out the President's pledge for a "constructive change."

"The President's acceptance address has been most cordially received throughout New England," Senator Bingham told newspapermen after his White House visit.

"His discussion of prohibition assures each State the right to handle the problem according to the wishes and desires of the people, without interference from neighboring States. New England will support that policy and leave to her own representatives in Congress the ways and means to carry it out, speedily and effectively."

Rested by his four-day fishing expedition into the lower Potomac and Chesapeake Bay, President Hoover returned to his desk yesterday to find another bushel or so of mail in response to his acceptance address. He devoted the day to routine Government business and received a number of callers, some of whom reported on the progress of the Republican campaign in various States.

Senator Howell, of Nebraska, who generally is identified with the independent Republican bloc in Congress, told newspapermen after a conference with the President that he planned to take the stump in behalf of the national ticket soon after mid-September. It is expected he will confine his speaking to Nebraska, but he has expressed a willingness to tour other Middle Western States as well.

Senator Howell said he was "very much impressed" by the President's acceptance address.

Cabinet Meeting Today.

After the regular Friday Cabinet meeting today, the President plans to motor to his rustic week-end retreat on the Rapidan.

Upon his return early next week, he will devote himself almost exclusively to preparations for the White House business conferences arranged for next Friday. This gathering, which will bring together spokesmen for every field of industry and finance, will mark the fruition of the President's endeavor to organize the resources of the country for a concerted drive to expand employment and start commerce and industry on the upswing.

The conference signalizes the end of defensive tactics along the economic front and the launching of a national offensive to "art business on the high road to "a prosperity more sane and lasting for the lessons of experience."

ILLINOIS AND OHIO GET RELIEF LOANS

$6,000,000 Advance Voted for Former; $768,000 for Latter State.

(Associated Press.)

Illinois obtained a loan of $6,000,000 for its needy from the Reconstruction Corporation yesterday and Ohio $768,000, but the relief agency made it plain that it expected the States to show additional vigor toward helping themselves in the future.

Meanwhile, Gov. George F. Shafer, of North Dakota, presented in person his State's plea for $150,000.

William H. Sexton, Chicago corporation counsel, and two other Illinois representatives, had made a formal application for $23,249,475, requesting $6,126,075 at once. They explained that relief funds in Cook County would be exhausted by tonight.

Warning on State Aid.

In voting to relieve the Illinois emergency, the board said it "will hesitate to consider further application from the Governor of Illinois for Federal relief funds until the State and its various political subdivisions have taken additional action to meet such emergency needs."

The Ohio chief executive received a similar admonition, the board saying that State probably would get no more money until every effort had been made to raise the money in the State, "including private contributions."

Early in August the corporation refused relief aid to Pennsylvania which had asked for $10,000,000, on the ground that the State had not done all it could to help its poor. President Hoover has taken the attitude that States should not ask for aid from the $300,000,000 fund voted by Congress until they have tried every means of getting the money at home.

Special Session Suggested.

Sexton said nothing was done about the $23,000,000 application, but he and his associates were well satisfied at getting the $6,000,000. He said the board suggested that he urge upon Gov. Emmerson the advisability of calling a special session of the Illinois Legislature to see if additional money for relief could not be raised.

The original Illinois application said the $23,000,000 would carry the State through the year. Sexton said the $6,000,000 would probably meet needs through September.

Of the Ohio loan, $400,000 goes to Montgomery County, $190,500 to Summit County, and $177,500 to Trumbull County.

The money is covered by county bonds which the counties have been unable to dispose of through the usual channels.

Ohio was granted a $336,440 loan about three weeks ago.

Illinois was the first State to borrow money for relief from the corporation, getting $3,000,000 on July 27. At the time Pennsylvania's request was denied, Detroit was granted $1,800,000.

Ruling by House Clerk On Publicity for Loans

the final conference report one of the members read to the House the letter of the board of directors of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation which set forth the objections of the board to the inclusion of the amendment in the law. The board construed the amendment to mean "that all loans made would become public property."

In the debate in the Senate on July 14, 1932, the section was referred to throughout as the publicity provision. In the debate on the second conference report on July 16, 1932, a number of senators held the same view. One of the Senate conferees stated that he had refused to sign the conference report because he believed the item on publicity to be against the public interest.

Another senator stated:

"Of course, the whole theory is that the reporting of the loans to the House and to the Senate is so that they shall be made public. That is the object of the legislation, and it simply means that all of the loans, no matter how many are made, that fall due within the next year, must be made public."

A number of other senators took the position that the only purpose of the section was to furnish information to Congress, and that the reports could not be made public until either the House or the Senate or both had designated that they should be.

It is well settled that in the interpretation and construction of a statute the primary rule is to ascertain and give effect to the intention of the legislature, and that where the intent does not clearly appear from the wording of the statute itself resort is to be made to the committee reports and statements made by the committee member in charge of the bill in course of passage. It has been held, however, that debates in Congress expressive of the views of the individual members may not be resorted to in ascertaining the intent.

In the case of Rodgers vs. United States (185 U. S. 83) the Supreme Court stated:

"The primary rule of statutory construction is, of course, to give effect to the intention of the legislature. Whenever that is apparent it dominates and interprets the language used. But when the intent is a debatable question, and there is nothing on the face of the statute which clearly indicates such intent, there are certain minor and subsidiary rules by which courts are guided in determining the true construction."

In the case of United States vs. St. Paul, M. & M. R. Co. (247 U. S. 310) the court stated:

"It is not our purpose to relax the rule that debates in Congress are not appropriate or even reliable guides to the meaning of the language of an enactment. (United States vs. Trans-Missouri Freight Asso., 166 U. S. 290.) But the reports of a committee, including the bill as introduced, changes made in the frame of the bill in the course of its passage, and statements made by the committee chairman in charge of it stand upon a different footing, and may be resorted to under proper qualifications."

Again, in the case of Duplex Printing Press Co. vs. Deering (254 U. S. 443), the court stated the rule to be followed in ascertaining the meaning and purpose of the lawmaking body where the statute does not clearly indicate the intent. The court said:

"By repeated decisions of this court it has come to be well established that the debates in Congress expressive of views and motives of individual members are not a safe guide, and hence may not be resorted to, in ascertaining the meaning and purpose of the lawmaking body. (Aldridge vs. Williams, 3 How, 9, 24; United States vs. Union P. R. Co., 91 U. S. 72, 79; United States vs. Trans-Missouri Freight Asso., 166 U. S. 290, 318.) But reports of committees of House or Senate stand upon a more solid footing, and may be regarded as an exposition of the legislative intent in a case where otherwise the meaning of the statute is obscure. (Binns vs. United States, 194 U. S. 486, 495.) And this has been extended to include explanatory statements in the nature of a supplemental report made by the committee member in charge of a bill in course of passage. (Ibid.; Penn. Railroad Co. vs. International Coal Min. Co., 230 U. S. 184, 198; United States vs. Coca-Cola Co., 241 U. S. 265, 281; United States vs. St. Paul, M. & M. Co., 247 U. S. 310, 318.)

As the purpose of requiring monthly reports to be filed with the clerk of the House of Representatives while Congress is not in session, does not appear from the wording of the act, recourse must therefore be had to the proceedings in Congress under the rule as stated by the Supreme Court.

On July 13, 1932, H. R. 12946 was introduced in the House by Representative Rainey, of Illinois, and referred to the ways and means committee. On the same day this bill was reported back to the House from the ways and means committee by Mr. Rainey. As reported to the House, section 201 (b) required a report of the corporation's activities only under section 201. When the bill was under consideration by the House, Mr. Rainey, the committee member in charge of the bill, offered a committee amendment providing that the report should also cover the corporation's activities under the Reconstruction Finance Corporation act.

Mr. Rainey stated to the House the purpose of the amendment as follows:

"Mr. Chairman, it will hardly be necessary for me to take five minutes to explain this amendment. It affects loans hereafter to be made.

"The text of the bill requires an accounting, a statement only as to loans made under this act. The object of the amendment is to compel the filing of an account or statement of loans hereafter made under the original Reconstruction Finance Corporation act in order that the people of the United States who may possibly sustain losses at some time in the future on account of the operation of this act may know what becomes of their money.

The charge is being made throughout the country that $80,000,000 of this money has been loaned to the bank of a former member of the board of directors of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation. As a matter of fact, my information is that the amount was only $10,000,000, although more than that could have been obtained by his bank if it needed it. Now, if this statement were made it would relieve this particular bank of the charge of having obtained on account of the influence of its president this large amount of money.

It is contended as to future loans, made to small banks throughout the country, that if through information filed here with the clerk of the House of Representatives it becomes known that a small bank has borrowed $100,000 it might have the effect of making a run on that bank. I do not agree with this statement at all.

It will have the effect of showing that the bank is solvent and can borrow because banks are compelled to borrow on adequate security under this act, and under the old act. This amendment simply broadens the accounting requirements in order that the people may be fully advised as to what is being done with their money—the use that is made of it.

Mr. Parsons. Will the gentleman yield?

Mr. Rainey. I yield.

Mr. Parsons. If future loans are to be made public, why should not the same requirement apply to loans that have already been made?

Mr. Rainey. Maybe it should, but the amendment I am requested to present by the committee only covers loans made in the future.

After debate the amendment was adopted, and the bill as amended was passed by the House.

On the same day the House substituted the provisions of H. R. 12946 as an amendment to Senate amendment No. 1 to H. R. 9642, and requested a conference with the Senate, which was granted.

On July 14, 1932, the conferees reported to both houses that they were unable to agree. The House then instructed its conferees to insist upon the House amendment. The Senate agreed to the conference report and returned the bill to conference without instructions.

On July 15, 1932, the conferees reached an agreement. The House conferees filed a statement with their report. That part of the statement covering the agreement reached in conference under section 201 (b) is as follows:

"The House amendment requires a monthly report of the activities and expenditures of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation act and a statement showing the names of the borrowers to whom loans and advances are made under that act. There was no such provision in the Senate amendment. The bill as agreed to in conference retains the House provision."

In presenting the report to the House, Mr. Rainey made the following statement:

"Mr. Speaker, the statement is so complete that I do not desire at this time to make any extended observations, except to say to the members of the House that on the subject that seems now to be important to the House, the publicity provision with reference to loans, the Senate yielded and the House provision remains in the bill.

"Mr. Holmes. Will the gentleman yield?

"Mr. Rainey. I will.

"Mr. Holmes. I would like to ask the gentleman if the publicity clause in the bill is applicable to States and cities as well as all other loans?

"Mr. Rainey. Yes."

After debate the conference report as submitted was approved by the House by a vote of 286 to 48.

On July 16, 1932, the conference report was submitted to the Senate by Senator Norbeck, chairman of the Senate committee on banking and currency. Senator Norbeck made the following statement:

"I move that the Senate agree to the report.

"I will state that the Senate conferees yielded on everything. I have been in numerous conferences lately with the House and we have always yielded. We did so in this case. We did not merely yield; we surrendered.

"The question at issue, of course, was the question whether the borrowing banks should have their names published. The Senate, by decisive vote, had decided that they should not be made public. The House had the opposite view; but they were so determined in regard to the matter that we saw no hope of agreement, and we yielded."

It appears from the explanatory statements made by the committee members in charge of the bill in course of passage that it was the intent and purpose of Congress that the reports submitted by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation under section 201 (b) are to be made public. It is, therefore, my duty to permit the reports filed with me to be open to public inspection.

UTILITIES QUIZ FATE RESTS WITH PINCHOT

$100,000 Appropriation Is Asked by G. O. P. Body to Finance Inquiry.

Harrisburg, Pa., Aug. 18 (A.P.).—Investigation of the Public Service Commission, sponsored by the Republican organization, tonight was right in the lap of Gov. Gifford Pinchot, foe of both, and it had first-class chances of dying there.

Although the organization put it through the Senate today by a unanimous vote and without a roll call, the inquiry depends for its complete effectiveness upon Pinchot's approval of a $100,000 appropriation.

Without that the investigating committee would have to rely upon what it could get from the Senate contingent fund and other outside sources, and that admittedly would be relatively meager.

Pinchot withheld his hands from the affair last night, declaring that he thinks the investigators "will do as little investigating as possible" and "whitewash" the utilities.

He followed this up tonight with an assertion that "what the people want to know isn't what laws can be amended, but who bribed who. They want to know how much the briber paid and what he got in return. Especially they want to know whether, because of the bribing, they are now paying rates and charges that are unjust and excessive and, if so, how much the bribery is costing them."

In spite of Pinchot's attitude, the investigators organized today and elected William S. Rial, Westmoreland, as chairman. They include, with one exception, the same senators who were named to investigate charges of graft against W. D. B. Ainey, Montrose, commission chairman. Ainey resigned three weeks ago.

Investigation of the Public Service Commission and their relation to utilities has been Pinchot's battle cry for ten years. His gubernatorial campaign two years ago revolved around that issue.

But he announced today he has no faith in the proposed inquiry, although designed to go far beyond what he had asked.

He says the organization spurned his insistent suggestion that Attorney General William A. Schnader be made committee counsel and, in ordering the inquiry, the Senate criticized him for killing three bills passed last year to strengthen the public service commission laws.

MAYOR WALKER GOES TO COURT WITH FIGHT

strained from giving a decision on Walker's case.

Justice Staley also will be called upon tomorrow to pass upon a similar restraining order sought by George Donnelly, secretary of the Bronx Chamber of Commerce. Donnelly contended Mr. Roosevelt's powers violated the "home rule" provision of the State constitution.

Walker, soberly attired during the five previous sessions, today deserved the adjective "natty" that frequently is used to describe his attire. He wore a gray plaid suit, darker gray shirt and blue tie. A blue handkerchief was tucked in the breast pocket of his coat.

On the stand during the other days of the hearing, Walker on the sidelines today was impatient and restless. He frequently strolled around the "hall of the governors," where the hearing is in progress, chatting with reporters and members of the audience.

Once he went visiting in the capitol, looking in at the assembly chamber, where 22 years ago he had his baptism in politics as a State legislator.

Only once during the long day of argument did he break into the record. As Curtin talked, the mayor plucked at his arm for a whispered reminder.

"I am just a back seat driver," he explained to Roosevelt, who smiled.

To reporters, grouped around long tables, he remarked.

"Try sitting back like this after trying cases all your life. You become a doggone nuisance."

Curtin's reference to "Judge Seabury's snooperous investigators" brought a protest from Seabury, who moved to strike out the word "snooperous."

"That may be a pretty common kind of word," Curtin admitted.

"Well, it's just another insult," answered Seabury.

R. F. C. RELIEF LOANS TO BE MADE PUBLIC

was whether or not he should make the reports public.

Since adjournment of Congress, he continued, he had discussed the provision with many able men and found their opinions, as well as those of senators and representatives who had debated the provision, about equally divided.

Trimble explained he had asked his son, South Trimble, jr., an attorney, to analyze the provision and give him "his opinions without bias or prejudice," and to incorporate them into a brief. He then made public the brief, explaining the reasons for his decision.

The first comment on Trimble's decision came from Senator Fletcher (Democrat), Florida, who expressed doubt whether Congress had intended publicity.

"I have no objection to publicity of all kinds," said Fletcher, "but I didn't think the law as we wrote it meant that these figures should be given to the public. * * * Sometimes we defeat our purpose by parading such facts."

Atlee Pomerene, chairman of the corporation's board, conferred with President Hoover during the afternoon. He said he talked over affairs of the corporation and when asked if he had discussed the Trimble decision, replied:

"I have a very short memory when it comes to my talks with the President."

Man Gets 6 Months in Stabbing.

Moore is alleged to have stabbed Peace beneath the arm during the argument, near Fourth and Pennsylvania avenue northwest.

City Tax Receipts Show $49,182 Drop

Total for 1932 Fiscal Year at $36,835,647; Gasoline Excise Up.

District tax collections for 1932 fell $49,182 below those of the fiscal year 1931, the annual report of Tax Collector Chatham M. Towers revealed yesterday. The report actually shows an increase of $960,817 over the previous year's collections, but this was occasioned by what Auditor Daniel J. Donovan termed "an error in judgment," in crediting as a receipt a check for $1,000,000 paid by the District to the Federal Government under the Cramton act.

Total tax collections were reported as $36,835,647.86. Real estate yielded $20,238,000.22 as against $20,660,394 in 1931; intangible personel property brought $2,383,599.45 as against $2,661,069. Motor vehicle and gasoline taxes each showed increases, the former rising from $440,181 to $483,657.22, and the latter from $1,648,265 to $1,992,777.35.

Miscellaneous collections amounted to $2,561,108.33 as against $2,258,577. Tangible personal property yielded $1,230,314.25, and public utilities brought $2,214,478.93. In 1931 these two were combined and netted $3,512,440.

SENATOR DAVIS WANTS SPEEDY TRIAL IN LOTTERY INDICTMENT

two indictments returned against him, Senator Davis would face a prison term of 22 years and a fine of $11,000. Mann, named in one indictment with two counts, would, if convicted, face a possible sentence of four years and $2,000 fine.

The seven indicted will be given several days to voluntarily surrender for arraignment before United States Commissioners. They will then be released on bail.

The indictments were based on three statutes, prohibiting sending or receiving lottery tickets in Interstate Commerce, prohibiting lottery tickets from the mails, and conspiracy to violate either or both of the first two. There is no Federal Statute that actually prohibits lotteries, although every State has statutes that make them illegal.

"Grand Drawings."

McGuire and Walsh make a specialty of conducting membership drives and ticket sales campaigns for entertainments. Under their plan, the purchaser of each entertainment ticket or the candidate for lodge membership, received a stub which entitled him to participation in "grand drawings" for prizes of cash and merchandise. The grand jury considered evidence which showed that McGuire sold 50,000,000 tickets in campaigns for the Eagles, the Moose, and several temples of the Shrine.

The drawings for the Eagles campaign was held aboard a boat on the Canadian side of Lake Erie during a convention in Toledo. The Moose drawing was held aboard a vessel cruising off the Connecticut coast. The Shriners were to hold a similar drawing at their San Francisco convention and McGuire had a contract to conduct it, but Federal authorities told Shrine officials it violated Federal law and the plan was dropped.

The prizes distributed by the Eagles and the Moose totaled $225,000. Receipts were estimated at $5,000,000. The balance went to charitable enterprises of the lodges and to officials who have contracts giving them percentages of the initiation fees of new members.

Western Union Accused.

The Western Union Telegraph Co. was accused of transporting lottery tickets in interstate commerce. Through the Western Union, it was alleged, tickets were sent to all members of the Moose and Eagles. Revise was named in a similar indictment.

Federal authorities expected the indictments to have a decidedly dampening effect on similar lotteries conducted constantly in every part of the country. These lotteries, usually sponsored by a fraternal or charitable organization, are estimated by authorities to take in millions annually. They offer everything from automobiles to trips to Europe as prizes.

Kansas City, Aug. 18 (A.P.).—Clyde Taylor, personal attorney for Conrad H. Mann, indicted in connection with alleged lotteries conducted by fraternal organizations, said today he was convinced "there has been not even a technical violation of the law so far as the Fraternal Order of Eagles and its officers are concerned."

Taylor Comments.

Taylor commented on the indictments in the absence of Mr. Mann who was en route to Kansas City from the East.

"The national officers of this organization are not the character of men who violate laws," Taylor said.

"This enterprise benefited several hundred thousands of people. It was no different from enterprises that have been for years conducted without complaint by churches, lodges, Red Cross, Junior League, the American Legion and other organizations.

"The officers of the Fraternal Order of Eagles engaged in this enterprise for the charitable benefit of their order and not for the private gain of any individual."

Chicago, Aug. 18 (A.P.).—Malcolm Giles, supreme secretary of the Loyal Order of the Moose, said tonight the organization "never violated either the spirit or the letter of the lottery laws."

"Legal action taken against our organization in New York probably was caused by the charity balls held by more than 1,000 Moose lodges in 1930 and 1931," Giles said. "Tickets were sold for 50 cents each and purchasers received a chance on cash awards as well as admission to the affairs.

"In the two years, local Moose lodges profited by about $1,000,000, which went to charity. About $250,000 also went to construction of buildings at Mooseheart, Ill. Cash awards for the two years totaled $250,000."

WALKER WANTS 22 CALLED IN DEFENSE

Eight Republican Leaders in State Included in List to Be Subpenaed.

Albany, Aug. 18 (A.P.).—Republican State Chairman W. Kingsland Macy and seven other of the most prominent Republican leaders in the State are included in the list of 22 witnesses whom Mayor James J. Walker wants subpenaed in his defense against removal charges, his counsel announced tonight, making public the list.

Other Republicans, besides Macy, are Samuel Koenig, New York City Republican leader; Senator Samuel H. Hofstadter, chairman of the legislative investigating committee that bears his name; Federal Judge John Knight, of the Western New York District, former Republican leader in the State Senate; William L. Ward, Westchester County Republican leader; Senator Walter W. Westall and Senator Seabury C. Mastick, of Westchester County, and Fred Bradley, former Erie County Republican leader.

The list includes also Police Commissioner Edward P. Mulrooney; L. F. Loree, president of the Delaware & Hudson Railroad; Maurice Hotchner, chairman of Mayor Walker's board of taxicab control; Aaron Sapiro, New York attorney; William C. Harty; Samuel Ungerleider, of the firm of Fenner, Beane & Ungerleider; Hector Fuller, who, as a member of the mayor's official welcoming committee, accompanied him to Europe in 1927; James McCormack, Louis Londen, Col. George W. Mixter, Daniel L. Reardon, Philip Le Boutillier, John Henry and Dennis H. McSweeney.

John J. Curtin, chief counsel for Walker, did not indicate why he had asked for subpenas for the Republican leaders.

Friends of Mayor Walker have contended, however, that the entire legislative investigation was a political move, started by the Republicans to give them ammunition for the 1932 campaign.

John J. Glynn, one of Curtin's assistants, said Curtin has a subpena for the work sheets and records of the Hofstadter committee.

"You were denied a subpena for the work sheets, weren't you?" he was asked.

"We've got it now," he replied.

The list also included a request for a subpena for the accounts in the Chase and Central Hanover Banks of the law firm of Blauvelt & Warren, with which Mayor Walker formerly was associated.

Leaders of B. E. F. Are Evicted Again

Headquarters Taken Away by Landlords Second Time in Week.

The "Bonus Expeditionary Force, Rank and File of America," is experiencing difficulty in maintaining a permanent headquarters in Washington. Yesterday, for the second time in a week, the organization was evicted by landlords.

The group, which is composed of former leaders of the bonus army, was last located in two rooms on the fifth floor of a building near Pennsylvania avenue and Sixth street northwest.

Edward F. Atwell, chief of staff of the order, claimed that he was being "persecuted." He sent his men looking for new quarters. The organization, which is to direct political activity, is being financed by borrowing and "with our own money," Atwell said.

Loan of $31,250,000 Sought by B. & O.

I. C. C. Asked to Approve Advance for Bond Issue Refinancing.

(Associated Press.)

The Baltimore & Ohio Railroad yesterday asked the Interstate Commerce Commission to approve a loan of $31,250,000 from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to be used in refinancing its $62,500,000 convertible bond issue which matures on March 1 next.

The road several days ago asked the commission to approve a refunding and general mortgage bond issue of $62,500,000 to replace the maturing issue. The application filed yesterday states that it is planned to pay holders of the present bond issue 50 per cent in cash and the remaining half in refunding and general mortgage bonds.

The Baltimore & Ohio two months ago received a loan of $32,500,000 from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to meet equipment trust maturities and bank loans. Its subsidiary, the Alton Railroad, also received a loan of $2,500,000.

Man on Probation In Assault Case

Ray E. Elliott Says He Mistook Policeman Montgomery for Robber.

Ray Elkins Elliott, 36, yesterday pleaded "delirium tremens" in defense of an alleged assault on Policeman T. O. Montgomery, August 3. Judge Ralph Given placed him on six months probation.

Elliott, who has been in Gallinger Hospital for treatment, stepped up to Montgomery on the street and is alleged to have swung at him, saying:

"Now I'll get even with you."

He told Judge Given he is subject to "D.T.'s" and mistook the policeman for a man who had robbed him.

W. C. T. U. TO FIGHT 2 PARTY PLATFORMS

Mrs. Boole Says Time for Organizing Third Group Is Lacking.

Seattle, Aug. 18 (A.P.).—With only one slight revision the fifty-eighth national convention of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union today adopted a report of the resolutions committee which opposed platform planks of both parties on prohibition and promised support, regardless of party affiliations, to dry candidates for Congress and the State legislatures.

The one change came in the section devoted to party planks. Referring to the Republican plank, the report had said "it would practically repeal the eighteenth amendment. We are opposed to the submission of this alternative amendment."

The statement "it would destroy national prohibition" was inserted between the two sentences.

After the report was approved, Mrs. Ella A. Boole, of Brooklyn, N. Y., national president, told the convention she had been frequently asked whether the union's expression of political policy adopted yesterday "favors a third party." The declaration expressed a belief the time is near "for a new majority party based on moral ideals which will include observance and enforcement of the eighteenth amendment."

View on Third Party.

"In my opinion we are neither for nor against a third party,' Mrs. Boole said, "but practical consideration indicates there is neither time nor money available for a third party in this campaign."

The resolutions were prepared by a committee of the national officers—Alice G. Ropes, of Boston, president of the Massachusetts W. C. T. U.; Mrs. Elizabeth Preston Anderson, of Sheldon, N. Dak., president of the North Dakota union; Mrs. Nina C. Frantz, of Moorestown, N. J.; president of the New Jersey union; Dr. Izora Scott, of Washington, director of the legislative department, and Mrs. Sadie A. Hall, of New York, director of Flower Mission and relief work.

The resolutions adopted follow in summarized form:

Total abstinence—We declare total abstinence from all alcoholic liquors is a safe rule of life and a sure preventive of the alcohol habit.

Prohibition Upheld.

Prohibition—We are convinced that prohibition is the best method of reducing the consumption of alcoholic liquors.

Repeal—We are opposed to the repeal of the eighteenth amendment.

Modification—We are opposed to legalizing beer.

Referenda—We urge the prompt defeat of all efforts to repeal or weaken State prohibition laws.

Party planks—Republican: It would destroy national prohibition. Democratic: We are definitely opposed to this program of repeal.

The union this year "will redouble and again redouble its educational campaign for total abstinence," Mrs. Boole declared at a dinner tonight, the final session of the meeting.

"Strong' emphasis," she said, will be put on the work of the scientific temperance instruction department.

"We will make an effort to approach those women who entertain widely, and who are in the habit of using alcoholic beverages for entertainment purposes."

Freight Sets Off Blast Believed Aimed at Flier

Little Rock, Ark., Aug. 18 (A.P.).—A charge of dynamite which Rock Island Railroad officials said they believed was intended to wreck their fast Californian, en route from Memphis, exploded as an unscheduled freight train passed a spot about 200 yards east of the North Little Rock passenger station at 12:15 a. m. today.

The blast tore out a piece of rail 2 or 3 feet long and blew the pilot off the locomotive of the freight, which, however, was not derailed. The engineer and fireman, two brakemen and several hoboes were dazed, but otherwise uninjured.

Women Are Seen As Aces of Future

Kiwanis Club Is Told of Aviation Probabilities in Next War.

Declaring that women are admirably suited for aviation and that they might play a part in future war maneuvers, Capt. W. G. Child, commandant of the Naval Air Station, warned members of the Kiwanis Club yesterday that they will soon be buying airplanes instead of automobiles for their wives. Capt. Child was guest speaker at the weekly luncheon meeting of the club.

Miss Helen McClosky, one of the two women entries in the air derby, was presented to the club and given a floral tribute. Lieut. Comdr. C. J. Robertson told the Kiwanians of the small group of physicians who fly and are specializing in administering to ailments peculiar to aviation.

Other prominent aviation figures who were guests included: Lieut. Comdr. A. W. Radford, Lieut. Comdr. W. K. Harrill, Lieut. R. H. Robbins, jr., and Lieut. H. B. Temple.

12 Injured in Wreck Of Train in Alabama

Andalusia, Ala., Aug. 19 (A.P.).—Eleven persons injured in the wreck of a southbound Central of Georgia passenger train near Brantley, Ala., were brought to the city hospital here today.

Dr. C. H. Chapman said a twelfth person injured, Tom Wright, of Troy, Ala., had been taken to a hospital there in a serious condition. He said the wreck occurred as a heavily loaded scale on a testing car split a rail and plunged down a 27-foot embankment, dragging after it a baggage car, mail car and three passenger coaches. Only the engine was left on the rails.

Tennesseean Gets Term In Lea Case Bribe Offer

Asheville N. C., Aug. 18 (A.P.).—Wiley Noland, Heywood County farmer, was sentenced to serve from two to four years in State's prison today for offering a bribe to a juror in the Luke Lea-Wallace B. Davis bank fraud trial here last summer.

Judge J. H. Clement, in refusing defense motions for an arrest of judgment and a new trial, said: "No arguments are necessary. I have never seen a more aggravated case."

Interpreting the Mode

By DARE

Touches of white, especially when hand made, make for elegance and youthful charm! (Says Dah-ray).

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—Ho-o-o-o-o-oelwilll! Yee—oh-h-h-h-h! Sniff, sniff and a coupla red noses—than which there is no greater trial to a lovely ladyee.

All because the depression in her neighborhood hasn't lifted—and she just can't buy the new fall things she absolutely promised herself she had to have.

Dah-ray to the rescue! And with no shabby hand, either, and no Pollyanna stuff—but a real style hint. 'Tis about what the French so gayly call "lingerie touches," that I whisper. And it has nothing to do with underwear, either.

'Tis the dainty, delicate, handmade and fragile touch of white at the throat and wrists that is meant by lingerie touches. And 'tis they and they alone that will revive your failing spirits—and your autumn wardrobe.

For no matter how old your frock is—and I'll just bet you anything it isn't old at all ennyhow—but that you are just tired of it—a fresh collar that would cost more than the frock unless you made it yourself will absolutely revive both you and it. Look at the one I sketched for you today—maybe you think that didn't slay 'em when I flashed it on the beeeg-moving-picher-maggot the other day! It should, too, when you remember that it took the French-maid-who-is-(was)-Spanish a whole week of her flying fingers to make it!

Well, that is subtle elegance for you. And your own flying fingers, in your own spare time, can be fashioning little nothings like this for you. Flash them on your friends and business acquaintances, and see what happens to their opinion of your bankbook.

* * * *

And oh, yes, be sure to send your stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare Department of The Washington Post for the new leaflet which gives you a lot of new ideas and designs for making these lovely and elegant collars and gillets and things in your spare finger time. Then hard at it—you just can't imagine how much spare finger time you actually have until you try to find it—and a whole box full of new dainties for your new fall wardrobe; 'n' who will ever suspect that it is last year's, with its fresh and dainty and 'spensive look!

* * * *

A filet of rhinestones with jeweled clips at either end, which one wears at the most becoming angle on the head, is new and lovely for evening coiffure jewelry. If you can safely affect the rather extraordinary new style of wearing hair almost as long as to your shoulders in a profusion of semiwaves, then this filet is almost necessary to make any semblance of a coiffure.

The Juliet cap of pearls, tiny, fine ones, is worn in a strictly new fashion—tilted, by deah—right down over one eye, and forward on the head! Shades of Romeo losing his mind!

* * * *

My favorite and most practical and most easily made pyjama trousers and blouse—if you haven't sent for the leaflet, do—'tis the last chance. And believe, me, my deah, you'll wish you had some day, if you don't!

Au revoir!

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. W. A. EVANS

WHAT HELPS CONSUMPTIVES.

A LETTER asks for an article on the treatment of consumption, and particularly on the newer points. The inquirer specifies food, rest, climate and sunshine.

Probably the most interesting developments in recent years are the various surgical procedures that have come into use. In the later stages consumption becomes a process of abscess formation. What in consumption is called a cavity would be called an abscess in another part of the body. Since the lungs are placed inside the bony, noncollapsible chest, the abscesses there tend to remain open, to fill up with pus, and to heal poorly. The way to cure an abscess is to collapse it and let the wall grow together. There are several operations to collapse the lungs, have the cavity walls come together, and grow together, that healing may be promoted. There are other operations to drain the pus out of the cavities. In those cases to which it is suited the proper operation is much the best treatment of consumption.

The efforts to get antiseptic chemicals into the bronchi and the cavities by pouring them into the trachea are procedures that offer much in appropriate cases.

The new methods in feeding come from Germany. The diets now used are planned to supply minerals, vitamins and the necessary calories. The old plan of giving milk, cream and rich heavy foods at frequent intervals and in large amounts is not now in vogue. While it is regarded as a good sign when patients put on weight, the importance of that is not as highly considered as was the case a few years ago.

Climate is definitely of advantage in pulmonary tuberculosis. The best climate is one where the atmospheric humidity is very low, there are no fogs, and things seldom become damp or mildewed when left out; where there is less than twenty inches of rainfall yearly, where there are few cloudy days. The temperature should not be high in summer and neither too low nor too high in winter. There must be some wind, but no windstorms, and the air must be clean. A climate where meat can be jerked is very apt to be a climate that is good for consumptives. As a rule the elevation should be more than 3,000 feet in order that the sun ray may not be harmfully filtered.

Since most of those who chase the climate cure are nonresidents, there are certain relations of their daily life that must be borne in mind. The consumptive, being away from home, is apt to develop homesickness. The advantage of the climate cure is not great enough to offset the disadvantage of homesickness. As a rule the only people who are cured by the climate cure are those who go to the new climate to live there permanently; who learn the ways of the people and conform to them—in a word, they are those who start out to fit in and who succeed in their undertaking.

Most consumptives seeking the climate cure will need to rest in bed or live quietly for several months. The man who does not have financial backing sufficient to carry him for idleness for one year will not get enough good from the climate cure to make it advisable for him to try it.

There is nothing new in the rest treatment of consumption. The consumptive belongs inactive and usually in bed until he is no longer thrown into a fever by taking exercise or moving about. After the months in which rest is the best medicine the consumptive takes there comes the time for prescribed exercise for the purpose of building up the muscles and promoting endurance.

AVOIDING HEATING FOODS.

G. D. writes: As the hot summer weeks are here, I would like to stop eating so many fat and heat generating foods. Should I stop eating bread, cake, meat, ice cream?

REPLY:

When the air is hot we naturally turn away from foods that make most heat and toward those that make least.

Among those that lead in heat making are the fats, oils, and greases. Meats are fairly near the top, fat meat leading lean. At the other end of the line are fruits, vegetables, salads without oily dressings, and breads.

BASAL METABOLISM.

Reader writes: How can I know whether my basal metabolism is correct and, if it isn't, what should be done to correct it?

REPLY.

Have your physician make a metabolism test. He will tell you how to prepare for this test. After making it he will tell you how you rate and what you should do, if anything.

MAY NEED WARMER WATER.

S. G. writes: After a cold (about 60 degrees) bath of moderate duration I experience the following unpleasant reactions: Rapid and unpleasantly strong heart beat, sometimes slight pain in heart region, heavy feeling in the legs, distended blood vessels. Can you tell me why this is so? I am 25, in fairly good health, except for a slightly toxic goiter and some hypertension.

REPLY.

It is possible that these unpleasant sensations result from overstimulation of your thyroid by cold. This being true, you had better limit yourself to warmer baths, say 80 to 85 degrees.

What Today Means to You

By MARY BLAKE

"LEO."

IF August 19 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 8 a. m. to 10 a. m., from 2 p. m. to 4 p. m., and from 7:30 p. m. to 9:15 p. m. The danger periods are from 11:15 a. m. to 1:10 p. m. and from 9:30 p. m. to 11:30 p. m.

The planetary aspects of August 19 indicate the unexpected. Something will happen which may change your outlook and your point of view, and which may insure to your ultimate advantage although the benefits may not materialize for some weeks to come. Travel is denoted as well as new friendships.

A child born on this August 19 will develop a very delightful personality that will "make the going easy." It will, moreover, be gifted with a keen intelligence, forceful energy, and the ambition is excel in everything that it attempts. It will be natural and spontaneous, full of initiative and originality.

Born on August 19, you are straightforward, simple in your tastes and rather more satisfied to remain as and where you are than fight for something better, though less tangible, or seek fresh fields and pastures new. You are, without being stingy, quite thrifty, an an avowed enemy of living beyond your means, or of incurring debts and obligations. You are content to go without that which you can not afford.

A hard and conscientious worker with average intelligence and good trading abilities, you will find your metier in business life. You will, although a keen bargainer, never put one over on any one else—nor will you allow any one to put one over on you. Your disposition is a dependable one, and in fair or stormy weather, you mentally neither perspire nor shiver. You know what are your rights and insist on them. You at no time crave indulgence or exceptional concessions.

Your disposition is kindly, but somewhat lacking in toleration. With you there are no extenuating circumstances; a thing is either right or it is wrong—you recognize no middle road. You are just as severe a critic of yourself as you are of others.

Successful people born on August 19:

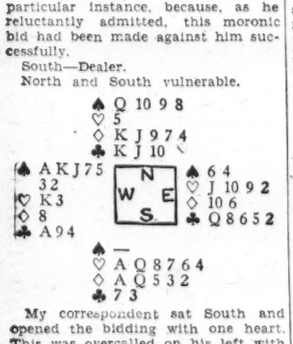
PSYCHIC OPENING BIDS.

I AM frequently asked my opinion of psychic bids. I always reply that if intelligently used they may be of great value against inalert opponents. I do think that an excessive use of them would tend to spoil the game, but the element of intelligent bluff can be just as much a part of Bridge as it is of poker. The other day I received a letter from a man who wanted me to classify as moronic a certain bluff bid which had been made against him. Whatever my feeling in the matter may have been, I was unable to agree with him in this particular instance, because, as he reluctantly admitted, this moronic bid had been made against him successfully.

South—Dealer.
North and South vulnerable.



My correspondent sat South and opened the bidding with one heart. This was overcalled on his left with two diamonds, which North doubled; East passed, as did South, and now West shifted to two spades, which North also doubled. This was the final declaration and West succeeded in making it, losing only two spades, one heart, one diamond and one club.

While in general I do not approve of bluff bids of this kind, in this particular case it was almost impossible to criticize West since the bid worked. My correspondent also thought that North was to be blamed for falling into such an obvious trap. I do not think that the trap was so obvious. It certainly looked to North as though two spades could be defeated just as severely as two diamonds. The real fault in the hand lay with South. Holding five diamonds himself, he should have realized that it was impossible for West to have a diamond bid and North also to have a double. Since there was no reason to distrust North's double, it must follow that West's diamond bid was a fake. South, therefore, should not have allowed the two spade double to stand, but should have bid four diamonds. Actually, the combined North and South hands can make a Small Slam in diamonds, but it is doubtful whether it should be played there. Five diamonds is a certainty, and had South taken advantage of the inferences at his disposal, he would not have been trapped by a bid which really tended to insult his intelligence.

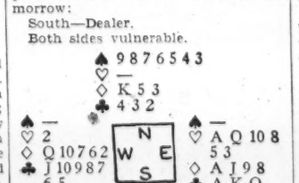
Today's Pointer.

Psychic Opening bids—that is, Opening bids which depart from conventional standards—depend entirely for their value upon a keen appreciation of the psychology of both partner and opponents.

Tomorrow's Hand.

The bidding and play of the hand printed below will be discussed tomorrow:

South—Dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.



Study the hand, decide how you would bid and play it, and then compare the results you obtain with those shown in tomorrow's article.

How to Be Beautiful

By ELSIE PIERCE

THE hair has for some time been vying with face and figure for beauty honors. And it is difficult to say which of these three important factors in the beauty ensemble gets the first vote. Certain it is that women who keep their hair meticulously clean, lusterful and beautifully groomed have learned one of the first lessons in beauty.

How Often to Shampoo.

During my recent sojourn in Hollywood I was delighted to find that the stars confirmed most of my beauty theories, among them the fact that frequent shampooing is not harmful. It has always been my contention that the hair should be shampooed as often as it "feels dirty." While oily hair will probably need a weekly washing, normal hair a shampoo every ten days or two weeks and dry hair every two or three weeks, there are no absolute "out and out" rules.

Constance Bennett's beautifully blonde hair is shampooed every two weeks with a French castile soap, two or three lathers and thorough rinsings, then whites of two eggs are rubbed into the hair, thoroughly, followed by several hot water rinses, then into tepid and finally into real cold water.

Irene Dunne, the R. K. O. brunette, calls upon a hot oil rub about three hours before the shampoo, then a shampoo with a tar soap, and follows this course only once in three weeks. A vinegar rinse and distilled water complete the cleansing process. Many of the stars, by the way, use vinegar or lemon rinses after the shampoo and thus enhance the highlights of their hair.

Jill Esmond's dark hair is shampooed as often as twice a week, a regular plain shampoo, thorough rinsing finished with vinegar.

And the brown hair of Arline Judge gets its shampooing about every three weeks with a high-grade shampoo, three latherings and "scrubbings" with fingertips, thorough rinsing after each rub. Final vinegar rinse following with lukewarm water.

Dolores del Rio's strikingly brunette hair is shampooed weekly.

Every two weeks for Helen Twelvetrees, with a high-grade shampoo, three or four latherings and thorough rinsing, final rinse with lemon juice in lukewarm water rinsed out with warm water and then a cold water rinse.

Dry Shampoos.

Many of the blonde stars keep their hair fluffy by brushing once or twice a week with the white of egg dry shampoo. Simply whip, apply, allow to dry and brush out: it will flake out like powder.

And an interesting trick of Loretta Young's—when she is working on a picture and doesn't want to have her hair shampooed, she has it dry cleaned; holds her head over a bowl and has a dry cleansing hair fluid poured over it, which dries quickly, the odor disappears in a few minutes, leaving her hair light and fluffy without destroying the wave.

98 out of every 100 women who report after taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound say, "It helps me". . . . Hundreds of letters are received every day from grateful women. . . . They took the Vegetable Compound before and after childbirth; for weakened, rundown condition; during Change of Life; for painful and irregular periods; for strength after operations; for periodic backaches and headaches. . . . They give it to their daughters and they recommend it to their neighbors.

How can we add to their testimony? What can we say about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound that is more convincing than the simple statement of half a million women—"It helps me?" Ask your druggist for the convenient tablet form. Find out for yourself how good it is.

"I used to have such terrifying backaches and nagging pains that I had to stay in bed several days at a time. Nothing seemed to help me until I tried Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Before I had taken half a bottle I began to feel better."

HURLEY APPEARANCE AT LEGION OPPOSED

Bristow, Okla., Post Against Slated Speech Because of His Bonus Views.

Bristow, Okla., Aug. 18 (A.P.).—A resolution protesting the scheduled appearance of Patrick J. Hurley, Secretary of War, before the State American Legion convention at Muskogee August 28-30, was adopted today by the Klingensmith Legion Post of Bristow.

The resolution contended a speech before the convention by the War Secretary, who is an Oklahoma World War veteran, would be out of line with his stand on the bonus question and his action in connection with the clash between the bonus expeditionary force and the military in Washington.

(Associated Press.)

Stating his intention of attending the national American Legion convention in Portland, Ore., September 12, Secretary Hurley said last night, in a radio address as released by the War Department, that it is well for legionnaires to recall the pledges of their constitution. The Secretary spoke over a National Broadcasting Co. network.

Reference was made to the bonus issue as follows:

"Some of us demand immediate payment of the bonus. Others prefer to await its maturity. The American Legion does not consist of stereotypes. We are each free and independent Americans, entitled to free and honest opinions."

"Not since the adoption of the constitution of the American Legion," he said, "has the challenge been sounded so clearly to us to uphold and maintain the ideals to which we so solemnly pledged our support."

The preamble, which includes pledges to uphold the Constitution, maintain law and order and "foster and perpetuate a 100 per cent Americanism," was then recalled.

"Today this country is passing through a crisis," Hurley said, adding that although "some economic battles have been won," the economic war "is not over."

Although other nations have been driven from the gold standard, he said, the United States "still remains firm, solvent and confident of the future."

BALL SHORTAGE CASE GOES TO JURY TODAY

Included among the character witnesses were James Lockwood, Ball's next door neighbor for 29 years; George A. Rucker, Hoyt Johnson, W. A. E. McShea and L. C. Dodd. Douglas waived cross-examination of these persons.

Others were Dr. Ralph Quick, Dr. W. C. Welburn, E. A. Meade, Walter T. Wheeler, A. J. Porter, E. A. Bowles, William L. Bragg, Thomas R. Gray, E. S. Simpson, Leo Lloyd, Otis Wilson, and the Rev. L. T. Lewis.

Before defense presented its case, it moved that Judge McCarthy throw out all of the evidence presented by the State. The motion was denied.

The particular indictment on which Ball is being tried charges that he misused $24,454 collected last January, which the State claims was due it and which, it is charged, was not paid.

After an audit of Ball's accounts, State auditors charged a shortage of $564,000. Their report was not presented during the trial.

The principal testimony for the State was intended to show that Ball had paid personal notes aggregating $36,000 with checks on his account as treasurer.

It was contended by the defense that Ball was repaying himself in that manner for loans made to the county from the money which was originally obtained through the notes.

Jackson, Goodwin & Co., certified public accountants of Norfolk, Va., have been retained by the Fidelity & Deposit Co., of Maryland, surety, on Ball, to verify the figures assembled by the State auditors. A. Joel Jackson and M. L. Goodwin, of the accounting company, arrived at the courthouse while the trial was in progress.

William F. Clarke, claims attorney for the bonding company, said, "To facilitate the prompt determination of liability on the part of sureties on bonds of public officials, T. Coleman Andrews, State auditor, has shown keen disposition to render full cooperation with such sureties. Our company is assured of a continuance of the policy and I expect to put our men at work the moment this trial is over."

VENABLE CONVICTED IN BATH SHORTAGES

Passing of Year's Sentence on Former Treasurer Is Delayed.

Warm Springs, Va., Aug. 18 (A.P.).—George B. Venable was convicted today of misuse of public funds and his sentence fixed at one year in the State Penitentiary.

Defense attorneys immediately began preparation of a motion to set aside the verdict and asked the court to defer sentence against the former Bath County treasurer until a demurrer could be prepared.

There was no demonstration in the courtroom when the jury returned with its decision. The verdict was received without show of emotion by the defendant, who had sat through the trial between his two sons.

Commonwealth's Attorney Albert V. Bryan, of Alexandria, who conducted the prosecution, said that although the minimum sentence was meted out, he was entirely satisfied with the verdict of guilty.

The verdict came late this afternoon at the close of the eighth day of the trial, after two hours and eight minutes of deliberation.

Venable during the trial had vigorously denied any wrongful act as treasurer, although he admitted a small "book" shortage in his accounts, which he said was accounted for in outstanding tax tickets.

His counsel in its closing argument today sharply criticized the State audit, which uncovered the purported shortage, which the prosecution claimed amounted to more than $93,000.

George A. Revercomb, in his presentation of the final defense plea, said the audit was inaccurate and insufficient to warrant a verdict of guilty.

TRADE PACT GAINED BY BRITISH NATIONS

Dominions to Extend Mutual Preferences; U. S. Films May Be Penalized.

Ottawa, Ont., Aug. 18 (A.P.).—The imperial economic conference, through its committee on methods of economic cooperation within the empire, announced today to the rest of the world the intention of the commonwealth nations to propagate mutual trade preferences.

The lead was taken by the British delegation in agreeing to finance the empire marketing board until September, 1933. It had been suggested that the United Kingdom alone could not carry the expenses of the board and some dominions had stated they were unable at present to contribute to its upkeep.

The operations of the board, whose function it is to popularize dominion products in the British Isles, has cost the United Kingdom an average of £500,000 annually. As the result of its research work in agricultural production, marketing and publicity there was a marked increase in 1931 in British purchases of wheat and flour, lamb, pork, tobacco, butter, eggs, tea, sugar, vegetables and fruits from empire nations.

The United Kingdom made it evident Great Britain expects the rest of the commonwealth to contribute to the board's funds after 1933 as the result of her carrying the load until the dominions can make preparations. It is the ultimate purpose of the board to do for British products in domonion markerts what it has accomplished for empire products in the British Isles.

Aside from the prophetic recommendations on industrial and agricultural standardization, about the only direct move the committee's report made was to suggest that empire nations showing foreign motion picture films assess a special duty on their renting value, the proceeds to be used for natural revenue and the encouragement of commonwealth picture production, and to suggest that the United Kingdom require that wholesale trade in such commodities as eggs be on the basis of commonwealth standards.

That suggested to American observers the preponderant export of American films might be additionally penalized and the export of foodstuffs might have to conform to standards requiring the material alteration of present practices.

It was recommended that to promote intra-empire trade in steel, timber, industrial implements and machinery, aircraft machinery and component parts and particular methods of testing, British nations should take immediate steps toward the adoption of commercial standard specifications.

Bathtub Is Stolen From Capital Home

Someone made early preparations for Saturday night yesterday. That in itself would not interest the Police Department, but unfortunately this person evidently believed cleanliness was so close to Godliness that grand larceny might be excused.

It will not be excused, however, if police can ever catch the man who stole the bathtub from 2331 E street northwest. George Duren, of 1221 N street northwest, who has been working in the house, told police that someone had entered early yesterday morning and decamped with the tub.

LARGEST SAO PAULO OFFENSIVE REPULSED

Federal Planes, Artillery and Infantry Reported Pushing Rebels Southward.

Rio de Janeiro, Aug. 18 (A.P.).—Federal forces operating in the Mantequeira region have repulsed the strongest constitutionalist offensive since the rebellion in Sao Paulo began six weeks ago, the ministry of war announced tonight.

A communique said the rebels laid down an artillery barrage and launched a bitter attack on the federal right wing in the tunnel sector. Loyal troops replied with a counter-bombardment, raking the enemy's advance trenches, and the insurgents withdrew.

The Sao Paulists were said to have suffered heavy losses and to have ceased their operations for the time being. As one outcome of the battle, Marfo Tavares, former secretary to Julio Prestes, president-elect in 1930, surrendered to the federals at Itajuba, Minas Geraes.

In another engagement federal infantry, artillery and airplanes attacked the villages of Pinheiros and Lavrinhas, near Cruzeiro. The outcome was not known. Another force under a former federal intervenor repelled a second rebel assault on Porto Taboado, a Parana River port in western Sao Paulo.

A federal detachment was understood to be menacing the Matto Grosso rail center of Treslagoas and another was closing in on Lussanvina, 40 miles east of Treslagoas.

Pleas for peace were renewed as Serafim Vallandro, president of the Commercial Association, said that conservatives throughout the nation were hoping for speedy end to the conflict.

Regulations Announced For Model Plane Tests

Regulations governing the coming aircraft tournament of the District of Columbia Model Aircraft League, from August 22 to August 26, were announced yesterday by Paul Edward Garber, chairman of the rules and judges committee.

All planes entered in the contests must be constructed and operated by the contestant. Entrants were asked to note that flying true scale models must be reasonable reproductions to scale of ships now in use.

Special Delivery Car Stolen While Parked

A light roadster used to deliver special-delivery letters from the local postoffice was stolen yesterday afternoon. The car was parked at Eleventh and S streets northwest.

Jenninga Galloway, of Clarendon, driver of the car, told police he had parked it while he went into a nearby building to deliver a letter. When he came back the car was gone. The thief got only one piece of mail, a letter addressed to a Government department. Its value is unknown.

THE VICE PRESIDENCY.

Vice President Curtis makes a solid contribution to political thought in his speech of acceptance. His Republican orthodoxy is such as to preclude the idea that he might astonish the country by any radical utterance, but nevertheless he reinforces Republican doctrine by assembling up-to-date information and analyzing its import in the light of administration policies and performances. His references to the tariff, agricultural relief measures, restriction of immigration, and depression relief legislation give a comprehensive review of what the Republican party has done and is doing for the public welfare.

Mr. Curtis is opposed to the repeal of the eighteenth amendment. He recognizes the right of Republicans to assert their individual views on the question of changing the eighteenth amendment, without having their party loyalty challenged.

The acceptance speech of Speaker Garner will be awaited with interest. A comparison between the addresses of the two vice presidential candidates should throw much light upon their personalities and afford an insight as to what might happen if either should become President. Common prudence suggests that voters should study the views and mentalities of men who are placed in line for the Presidency. When men like Theodore Roosevelt and Calvin Coolidge attain the Presidency by succession and change the whole atmosphere of American political life, the importance of choosing vice presidential candidates is emphasized.

Charles Curtis and John N. Garner made their way to the front by their own efforts. They are Americans of a distinct type, as native as Indian corn. Mr. Curtis, indeed, is of Indian blood. Well may he be proud of it, and well may the descendants of the first American race be proud of their representative.

CANADA AND THE SOVIET.

Discussion of the Russian problem at the imperial conference in Ottawa should be a revelation to those misguided individuals in the United States who are demanding more extensive trade relations between the Soviet and this country. Canada and Great Britain are unable to come to an agreement for mutual trade concessions because of the position occupied by Soviet interests in the British market. Of course, Canada can not compete with the slave labor of Russia in supplying England with lumber and other raw materials. Unless the British government will put an embargo or a rigid quota limit on imports from the Soviet, the commerce between Canada and Britain can not be substantially extended.

Premier Ramsay MacDonald has adopted a policy of trading with the Moscow dictatorship because Britain is able to obtain raw materials from the Soviet at prices lower than they can be produced in any other part of the world. In turn, the British sell considerable machinery to the Soviet. The arrangement is profitable to British manufacturers and the Soviet government, even though Russian workingmen are compelled to work at starvation wages to keep up the volume of raw materials for foreign dumping. But it is a distressing blow to Canada, which is a direct competitor with the Soviet in supplying raw materials to the British market. Canada will not attempt to lower the living standards of her people so as to be in a position to supply raw materials as cheaply as they can be obtained from the Soviet. Canada's attitude is expressed in the slogan coined by Prime Minister Bennett: "No British country should touch the bloody hand of Russia."

The problem of Britain and Canada in dealing with the Soviet is strikingly similar to the problem that would be encountered by the United States in a similar venture. The manufacturers who hope to make large profits by selling obsolete machinery to the inexperienced Moscovites demand extension of Russian trade. Farmers, workingmen and industries that would be forced to compete with the Soviet dumping program are opposed to any commercial relations with the communistic regime. In the British-Canadian case the manufacturers and farmers are separated in two different countries. In the United States they are largely confined within one country.

Britain may inflict unemployment and distress upon Canadian producers if she chooses, because Canada is virtually a foreign nation. But no government in the United States could afford to sacrifice millions of workingmen and dozens of industries to the Soviet dumping program merely to favor a few large concerns that wish to sell more machinery to Russia. The unemployment and consequent distress in Canada resulting from Soviet dumping in Great Britain should open the eyes of those deluded American theorists who are trying to promote trade between this country and Moscow.

MR. TRIMBLE'S DECISION.

Mr. South Trimble, Clerk of the House, decides that reports on loans by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall be made public. His decision seems to be based solely on the wishes of Speaker Garner and Majority Leader Rainey. The law imposes upon Mr. Trimble no obligation to expose the affairs of banks and other financial agencies which obtain help from the Government. He admits that there is nothing in the law itself to support his decision, and that the intent of Congress in enacting the measure is not clear. In such circumstances it would have been wise to hold the reports until further instructions could be given by Congress.

The law itself says nothing of publicity. It is as follows:

> The Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall submit monthly to the President and the Senate and House of Representatives (or to the Secretary of the Senate and the Clerk of the House of Representatives, if those bodies are not in session) a report of its activities and expenditures under this section and under the Reconstruction Finance Corporation Act, together with a statement showing the names of the borrowers to whom loans and advances were made, and the amount and rate of interest involved in each case.

The Clerk of the House receives the report only because the House itself is not in session. The logical inference is that he becomes merely the custodian of the report until Congress reassembles. When Mr. Trimble assumes from this provision a legal responsibility to make a communication to the House public property he seems to be unduly stretching the law. If all laws were interpreted in this fashion the wishes of a few leaders in Congress might become effective, even though they were not warranted by the statutes.

No member of Congress can make these reports public. Yet the Clerk of the House, an appointive servant of one branch of Congress, considers it his duty to do so. Mr. Trimble thereby takes upon himself the responsibility of exposing business transactions which, in the public interest, should not be disclosed until the financial horizon is clear.

THE GRAN CHACO DISPUTE.

The inauguration of the new president of Paraguay, Eusebio Alaya, well known to be an advocate of arbitration, may mark a new phase of the threatened hostilities of his country with Bolivia over boundary lines in the wilds of the Gran Chaco. Upon the eve of taking office the president-elect said that he considered war between the two countries an absurdity. He expects that the opinion of the Americas would avert a bloody war and that the "results of the new negotiations will be beneficial, assuming they will establish strict conditions, including the demobilization of the armies of both countries."

Meanwhile the new executive warns that mobilization continues "because it is unavoidable, due to Bolivian aggressions which wound our national dignity, hurt our territorial sovereignty and destroy the equilibrium of the nation's economic life." Efforts to avert actual warfare as a result of the minor clashes that have occurred continue on the part of the five-power arbitration commission that has been sitting in Washington, and by the force of opinion registered by all the American republics, urging that conciliatory methods be employed in the settlement of this ancient boundary dispute.

The Gran Chaco, located in the very heart of South America, is twice the size of New England. Only the fringes of this vast tropical area have ever been developed, much of the territory remaining virtually unexplored. Bolivia is firm in regard to her claims affecting the Chaco, largely because it affords access for this land-locked country to the upper reaches of the Paraguay river, and thus the Atlantic seacoast.

For many years Bolivia endeavored to secure a much more accessible outlet to the Pacific. The Gran Chaco was far away, and it was during these years that Bolivia was busy with Chile over a western seaport that she claims Paraguay made gradual encroachments in the Chaco, beyond what is held in La Paz to be the natural boundary, the Paraguay river. Both countries base their original claims to the region upon ancient colonial documents, some of them so vague and indefinite as to boundaries that both sides present the same evidences of grants to prove their respective cases.

The Indian word Chaco, freely translated as "hidden place," is aptly applied to the territory in dispute. Its forests yield hard woods and grassy plains afford pasture for cattle. The interior is inhabited by tribes of primitive Indians. Forts have been set up in this wilderness by both Bolivia and Paraguay, occupied by scant garrisons, and clashes between these small forces have precipitated the present tense situation, with charges of aggression being made by both sides. Bolivia has a population and an army three times as great as Paraguay, but Bolivian soldiers and supplies must travel over long stretches of rough country to the Gran Chaco, while Paraguay's forces readily reach the disputed territory from the east.

The change of administration in Paraguay may afford the needed respite in the situation that will enable arbitration negotiations to be resumed. Certainly both Bolivia and Paraguay can afford to consider well the unanimous counsel of their sister nations of America before engaging in a war that is unnecessary, and which neither can afford from any standpoint.

STRATOSPHERIC ADVENTURE.

Regardless of what his scientific achievements may be, Prof. Auguste Piccard has captivated the popular imagination by his adventures in the stratosphere. His take-off attracted a crowd of 40,000 persons. Wherever news travels a full account will be given of the intrepid professor's journey into the thin atmosphere more than 10 miles above the earth.

Unquestionably the public is more interested in the adventure than in its scientific results. Prof. Piccard has opened a new field to exploration. In this day when practically every part of the earth is known, when the bottom of the sea has been explored and the polar regions are gradually yielding their secrets, public attention is attracted by adventure in a new field. No one except Prof. Piccard and his assistants has ever traveled so far from the globe and survived. Whether or not any important scientific facts are learned in these exploits, they are a significant contribution to man's hungry search of the unknown.

Prof. Piccard went aloft to study the behavior of the cosmic rays above the earth. Careful examination of his records and instruments will be necessary to determine whether he has added anything to scientific information on this subject. But that is quite unnecessary to establish him as a popular hero. Some European scientists have criticized his ventures into the stratosphere as valueless to science. Even if they are right, the fact remains that Prof. Piccard has accomplished what no other man has done.

Without attempting to appraise the scientific merits of this venture into the upper air, perhaps one is safe in concluding that the most important aspect of the flight is its demonstration that a man-made craft may safely penetrate that mysterious region. The first flight of Prof. Piccard nearly ended in disaster. Much improvement was made in the equipment used for the second trip. Apparently the ascent and descent were made without difficulty or danger. The adventurers suffered from the cold, whereas on the previous trip they narrowly escaped roasting. But these hardships can be obviated by suitable precautions.

Now that the practicability of ascending to great heights above the earth has been established, adventuring in the stratosphere may become more popular than trekking to the poles.

The silence at Plymouth Notch is not quite so profane as the silence at the Empire Building.

It's a poor commodity that fails to feel the thrill of life along its keel.

THE FIVE-DAY WEEK

From the Philadelphia Public Ledger.

The great body of industry, the workers therein and the Nation itself are about to face a difficult decision. We have made a cult of the machine. This is admittedly the Age of Machines. Even so, we now have our choice between accepting the five-day week in heavy industry, or in some way limiting the use of machines. There is a spreading revolt against the displacement of flesh and blood by these creatures of brass and steel.

For a time, the American Federation of Labor was a lone voice crying out in the wilderness of depression against the machine and for the working week of five days. Support has steadily grown as unemployment grew. Now, on the motion of New England and other groups, it has been made the subject of national conference. It is regarded sympathetically by Washington and by various civic, industrial and political interests.

A few years ago mankind fondly cherished the notion that a day was at hand when it might sit under the vine and the fig tree while machines did the work of the world. That notion has been wrecked.

We came out of the war with too many mines, too many mills and too many smokestacks. We went along adding to these until the day of the great panic. Consequently, mankind finds itself with too many machines now doing the work once done by men. Workers displaced by machines have not been absorbed in new industries.

People must eat. To eat they must earn. To earn they must work. When too much of the work of the world is done by machinery, there is not enough work for men and women. This was becoming evident even before the panic shook the world. Unemployment, technological and otherwise, was growing in 1927 and 1928.

The trend is toward the shorter day, and has been for generations. It is not so long since the steel industry cherished and fought for the 12-hour day. The 10-hour and the 8-hour days are passing. The 44-hour week came a long time ago in many places. The five-day week with the shortened day must come or there will be a world of industry populated not by workers but by machines.

The five-day week has, in fact, arrived. It has been forced upon industry by the depression and by the necessity of spreading available work among as many workers as possible.

Mankind will not surrender the machine. We will never go back to digging canals by hand or piling up railway embankments with a pick, a shovel and a wheelbarrow. Life has been made easier for humankind by the steel fingers and steel arms that now do overmuch of the work in the world.

The machine will stay, and it must stay, but there must be adjustments in its uses that will give more men and women their chance to work with and live by the machine. It may come in the form of taxation that will more nearly equalize the struggle between the hand-worker and the power-driven machine. It must come, in part, through the shorter week and the shorter day.

There must be a truce and a new peace between man and his machines. That truce will offer one road back to safety and security.

POST HASTE

It will be interesting to hear whether Speaker Garner's "Yankee boss" at Albany authorized him to pledge the Democrats to inflation.

Senator Cohen, returning from the New York confab, "sees" the next Congress Democratic. He's some seer.

British officials fear the Lytton report on Manchuria will contain a severe indictment of Japan. Most of the world is afraid it won't.

All that is needed to make the present effects of depression look like good times would be to have the Goldsborough gold brick and other inflationary and inflammatory measures passed by the late Democratic House also get by a Senate and a President.

Some mossbacks scoff at efforts to further a "managed recovery." There are places still where sick persons are "cured" only by witch doctors.

Rural Jack Garner, alarmed by the speeding autos and the fast tempo of life in New York, takes an airplane to get to the calm, open spaces of Texas.

The Democratic finance committee endeavors to be enthusiastic over the negative result of cancellation by Mr. Raskob of another slice of his mortgage.

A Washington delegate to the W. C. T. U. convention in Seattle indignantly denies that the elite of America are serving intoxicating liquors in their homes. "Elite" and "intoxicating" are both elastic and disputatious terms upon which not more than 2.75 per cent of the population content could agree.

True to form, the stock market waited for the good news of the regular Tel. & Tel. dividend before taking its midweek dip.

Add simile smiles: As unimportant as what S. Wildman Brookhart says about the Iowa farmers' strike.

Speaker Garner is just like Will Rogers, except that his vernacular is not assumed and boasts no wit.

Gov. Roosevelt will visit 21 States to "find out what the people want." If he doesn't discover before November he will then—that they do not want inflation and experimentation as national policies.

Automobile fatalities show a decline. Pedestrians get better breaks due to better brakes.

Of course, you were also relieved to learn that Dr. Piccard found the stratosphere was still there.

THE GERMAN THEATER.

Recent additions to the theater collection in the National Library, writes the Vienna correspondent of the Christian Science Monitor, have awakened public interest in another of Vienna's little-known unique treasure houses. This collection is one of the largest of its kind and contains more than 300,000 pieces, of which 160,000 are illustrations. Here the history of the German theater can be studied in detail and all the plays, operas, operettas, with their actors and actresses, easily traced.

The basis of the collection was laid by Hugo Held and Hugo Thimmig, the former the son of a famous librettist and the latter a director of the Burgtheater, actor and head of an illustrious stage family. Experts are constantly to be seen searching for something new among the old, and few dramas are staged anew in Vienna without reference to their previous performance as recorded here.

A Primer for the Study of Debts, Welchers and Suckers

By ROBERT QUILLEN

WHAT are "war debts?"

As commonly used, the words refer to the debt Germany owes England and France and the debt England and France owe the United States.

Are the debts similar in origin?

Not at all. Germany's so-called debt is a fine imposed on the vanquished by the victors, while the debt of England and France is for money borrowed in good faith to pay the costs of war.

Are the debts connected in any way?

No. But France is determined to pay the United States no more than she receives from Germany, and England will follow her example.

Is that fair or honest?

Don't be silly. If the man who wrecks your car refuses to pay for the damage, that doesn't excuse you from repaying a friend who loaned you money in time of trouble.

Are England and France able to pay?

They are spending more each year for armament than they are asked to pay on their debt. And France has over three billion dollars in gold.

Why do they offer to cancel Germany's debt if the United States will cancel theirs?

Because they know they can't collect any more from Germany in any case. They are willing to cancel a bad debt if Uncle Sam will cancel a good one.

Why do some Americans favor this scheme?

The theory is that cancellation of all debts would relieve Europe's impoverished tax payers and thus enable them to buy more goods from America.

Would cancellation really benefit America?

Figure it out for yourself. Take America's normal exports to England, France and Germany and see how many generations it would take for the net profit to equal the sum of the debts.

Would nobody in America benefit by cancellation?

Yes. If Germans are not taxed to pay France and England, they can pay their private debts to American bankers.

But if France and England don't pay back the money they borrowed, who will pay off the bonds that were issued by the United States Government to get that money from its citizens?

The American taxpayers will pay. They loaned the money to their Government; now they must dig up the money to pay themselves.

How much will it cost them?

If paid at once, the cost would be $78 for every man, woman and child in America.

Are the people eager to assume this new burden to earn some more of Europe's well-known gratitude?

You can't tell. There's no limit to the number of times a sucker will bite.

The Home Loan Banks.

Atlanta Constitution.

The general uncertainty as to just what benefits are to be expected from the home loan bank system authorized by Congress will, in all probability, be cleared incident to the discussions of the system at the convention of the United States Building and Loan League at French Lick, Ind., on September 1 to 3.

The system was created by Congress for the primary purposes of lightening the load now being carried by persons paying for their homes through regular payments, and to make it possible for those wanting homes of their own to take advantage of present low costs to finance building operations.

Membership in the new system will be largely composed of the building and loan associations of the country, which will be furnished money to extend and broaden their activities.

"If It Were Tomorrow."

New York Times.

If Rip Van Winkle had gone to sleep after the campaign of 1928 or 1924 or 1884, or any quadrennium between, and waked up this August, he would be consoled, among many bewilderments, to find that politics is the same thing over again. The old familiar voices would come to his ears. "If the election were held tomorrow"—alas! why can't elections be held "tomorrow?" Statesmen riding in Pullmans from San Francisco to New York study political sentiment from the window. They are amazed to find how strong and sweeping it is for Mr. Roosevelt or Mr. Hoover.

Seats in the House.

Boston Transcript.

Forty-three members, and unprecedented number, will be elected at-large to the Seventy-third Congress. This unusual condition is incident to the process of reapportionment, where, in most cases, the States failed to redistrict, or their redistricting was upset by the courts. Where a State which loses representation is unable to redistrict, all its congressmen must be elected at-large, and where one gains and does not redistrict, the additional seats must be filled at-large. A balancing of supposed party gains and losses from the redistricting indicates that the Republicans may gain twelve seats. This might prove important if the election of President were thrown into the House.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Schools and Colleges Fail to Teach Fundamental Americanism — Too Many "Reformers" Offering Half-Baked Ideas.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: That was what I call a worth-while editorial which appeared in The Post Tuesday, August 15, under the head "Fundamental Principles." My idea of an able editorial is one which illuminates a central point without undue verbiage.

The Post gives special praise to President Hoover for that passage in his acceptance address which insists that "we must preserve the fundamental principles of our social and economic system—the system which is based on individual initiative, equality of opportunity and ordered liberty."

It is a fact that there is just now a dangerous tendency in the direction of haphazard governmental experimentation. Sincere suggestions for governmental improvement are a good thing for the republic. But at this time there are too many half-baked, self-conceited, would-be molders of opinion who are quite well satisfied if they can "start something" without having given much study as to whether that something, if established, would work out for better or for worse.

In this connection, permit me to say that the electorate fail to give proper attention to the fundamental principles of our government because the public schools, as well as the higher centers of education, are at fault. "Knowledge comes but wisdom lingers," and too many of our elementary teachers and college professors are dazzled by the glittering generalities of red doctrines to the neglect of the study of Americanism which their patriotic forerunners taught.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I had occasion recently to learn of a police ruling in Berlin which authorizes the arrest of any persons found desecrating public parks or buildings by leaving fragments of paper or other litter behind them.

At first glance this seemed rather severe punishment. Upon studying Washington, however, I am altering my opinion.

Last evening I attended a concert given by the United States Navy Band on the east front of the Capitol. There were crowds, and hardly a vacant place was to be found upon the steps. It was an inspiring sight to see so many people showing such keen interest in the efforts of the musicians. The applause was deserved and enthusiastically given.

The crowd, anxious to leave when the affair was over, took little time or heed in their hurry. In scarcely 60 seconds not a person was to be seen on the steps, but something else was. Such a litter of blowing newspapers, programs and peanut shucks could hardly be found at a side show.

I thought of Berlin, and my ire rose to the boiling point. I'd have given much to have yanked a few of those indifferent men and women back by their collars and on their bended knees made them pick up every last one of the filthy remnants they'd left behind them.

If a few of those persons were made to see the inside of a jail for a few days they'd not make the same mistake twice. It's strong medicine, but, believe me, most of us feel like administering a strong dose after seeing the utter disregard of public cleanliness. It is time to enforce the rule of tidiness in Washington, as it is done in Berlin.

Light Ray From Arcturus, Which Left That Star in 1893, Will Start Machinery to Illuminate the Chicago World's Fair in 1933.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Light from a star will open the Chicago World's Fair. According to scientists, in 1893, at the time of the world's fair in Chicago, a ray of light left the star Arcturus, one of our celestial neighbors. In 1933 the earth will intercept that ray and it will be used to give the signal which will start the fair machinery.

Arcturus is 23,000,000,000 miles in diameter and is 235,000,000,000,000 miles away from us. The light will be captured by a 40-inch reflecting telescope which is at Yerkes Observatory in Wisconsin and is 40,000 times as powerful as the human eye. A photometer will be attached to the telescope and the ray transmitted by wire to Chicago.

LEGAL QUESTION.

Well, I suppose it's hardly fair
When I have settled down to sleep,
That Merry Little Tousled Hair
With shouts should break my slumber deep.
And there must be a law, I'm sure,
Upon the books in black and white
Such grave disturbances to cure,
Defining clearly what is right.

While naught I know of legal lore,
I'm certain that I recollect
Some statement I have heard before
That others' rights we must respect;
That citizens, however free
Their chosen pleasures to enjoy,
Are duty-bound to careful be
Lest others' comfort they destroy.

I could call a policeman in
And bid the brave, blue-coated chap
To stop this most tumultuous din
When I would take my midday nap.
He'd quell those shriekings of delight
And drive Miss Tousled Hair away
And force that crowd of youngsters bright
To seek some other spot to play.

I have a right to sleep, and yet
The calm required I'll not exact;
Those lonely days I can't forget
When peace was an accomplished fact.
So let them shriek and let them shout
And let Miss Tousled Hair be glad;
I'll try to get along without
The midday nap that can't be had.

COMPANY C WINS CAMP FIELD MEET

121st Engineers Unit Again Victorious at Cascade Training Site.

Special to The Washington Post.

Camp Ritchie, Cascade, Md., Aug. 18.—For the second consecutive year Company C, 121st Engineers, District of Columbia National Guard, yesterday walked away with first honors in the annual regimental field meet.

The company won easily with 22 points. Their nearest rival was Company E, which finished second with 15 points. Company B was third with 10 points.

The outcome of the contest hinged on the quarter-mile relay race. Company E was reputed to have the fastest men in the outfit, but lost its chance of winning when its second runner fumbled the baton when it was passed to him. The two companies, however, plan to hold a special race following the annual competitive drill Saturday.

One of the most exciting events was the half-mile individual race. Private Alexander D. Goodowitz, Company E, avenged last year's defeat with a sensational spurt down the home stretch. He outdistanced Private George A. Cleveland, Company C, who was last year's victor.

Record firing on the pistol range was completed yesterday by 28 members of the Engineers Band. Two sharpshooters and five marksmen were qualified. It was the band's first session on the range.

PICCARD GOES UP 10 MILES ABOVE ALPS

against a stubble field in this tiny village, was for the safety of his balloon. That taken care of, he said:

"Where is a telephone? I want to phone my wife in Zurich."

When he made his first ascent last year he almost lost his life, and his wife made him promise then that he never would attempt the dangerous feat again. But she reconsidered, and when he and his Belgian assistant took off before sunup this morning she was there to see him off with their children.

The scientific results of this new flight into the heavens remained uncertain. The professor hoped to gather evidence which will assist in determining whether the universe is "dying" or immortal. Such evidence would come from measurements of cosmic rays. But before it is possible to establish anything it will be necessary for his data to be examined and checked.

When Prof. Piccard stepped out of the porthole of the balloon gondola he tried to stand erect. But he could not. He swayed, and only the crowd pressing about him kept him from falling. He placed an arm on the shoulder of a man nearby to steady himself.

"It's the difference between the intense cold up there and the intense heat down here," he explained, running his hand across his forehead. "It was below zero up there."

The temperature on the ground was just over 100 degrees Fahrenheit.

Clothing Discarded.

As the balloon descended from its great height of more than ten miles, its occupants gradually discarded their heavy clothing, and when Prof. Piccard emerged from the sphere in which he had taken a ride across the Alps he wore only trousers, a shirt and shoes.

The aluminum ball was dented slightly when it bumped against the landing field, but neither of the men was injured.

After the scientist had talked by telephone to his wife, assuring her that he was safe and well, officials placed an automobile at his disposal to take him to Desenzano, but he wouldn't go that quickly.

"I must remain here until I see the balloon safely packed up," he said.

Then he collected his scientific instruments and deposited them in the automobile. He and Cosyns were to spend the night at Desenzano as guests of the Italian air force. Among those who welcomed them was Col. Marion Bernasconi, commander of the high-velocity aviation school at Desenzano, which is at the foot of Lake Garda.

In the course of the ascension the professor dispatched the first radio message ever originated in the stratosphere.

"All is going well," the message said. "Observation is good. Our altitude is from 14,000 to 15,000 meters."

There were several other messages at intervals during the day, and in one of them the scientist said he could see Lake Garda and was planning to descend soon in order to avoid alighting in the Adriatic. "Everything aboard is all right," he said, "but the temperature is very cold."

Wedell, who placed second in the Thompson trophy race last fall and set a Mexico-to-Canada speed record, was flying his new low-wing monoplane, the Miss Patterson, designed and built by himself. He plans to seek a new cross-country record and will enter the Thompson trophy race in Cleveland again this fall.

Income, estate, tobacco and stamp taxes decreased more than $14,000,000 as compared with July, 1931.

Revenues from the increased postal rates are not included in Treasury reports, but Postmaster General Brown said yesterday he had reported to President Hoover that despite a decrease in the volume of mail there has been a "substantial increase in postal revenue."

He said the outlook was hopeful that the higher rates would raise enough to overcome the huge postal deficit, but this would not be known until after the Christmas season.

SIX MORE AIRPLANES ENTER CORD DERBY

12 of 24 Competitors Finish Tests; Others to Fly Today and Tomorrow.

Despite unfavorable flying conditions, six more competitors in the Transcontinental Air Derby for the Cord Trophy put their ships in the air yesterday for speed trials on the Navy racing course on the Potomac, off Anacostia.

Twelve planes in all have now run their tests and await the starter's gun on Sunday morning. Twelve more remain to be tested today and tomorrow.

A Monocoupe belonging to C. J. Fenton, of Toledo, Ohio, was the first plane to fly the course yesterday. Mr. Fenton took the ship over the distance first, after which William Payne, local flying instructor, and Lieut. Stanley Umstead, of Bolling Field, each tested it.

Later two other Monocoupes belonging to J. E. Herndon, of Kansas City, and Harold Neuman, of Moline, Ill., were put through the tests. The other planes flown were a Travel Air, belonging to Doug Davis, of Atlanta, Ga.; a Waco, flown by C. H. Coffrin, of Brooklyn, and a Curtiss Robin, brought here by Dr. J. E. Owen, of Asheville, N. C.

Betty Lund and Arthur Killips, of Cleveland, comprising one of the foremost stunt flying teams in the country, arrived here yesterday. They will perform at the airport on Saturday and Sunday.

Judges supervising the time trials yesterday were John S. Wynne, Dave Wallace, of Baltimore; Jack Parker, and Edwin O'Donnell.

James Ray, vice president of the Pitcairn Autogyro Co., came in yesterday in one of his ships. He is here to see the start of the derby, but will not compete.

Officials of the derby announced yesterday that there would be no free parking space at the airport on either Saturday or Sunday, when a large crowd is expected to see final testing and an aerial circus, as well as the actual start of the race on Sunday morning.

ROUND-TRIP AIRMAN WINGING TO AMERICA

the first 100 miles or so of his journey.

Mollison, a 27-year-old Scotsman and veteran of the royal air force, who already has made a bit of aviation history with record Australia-London and London-Cape Town flights, hoped to be back on this side within 2½ days.

The plans on which he is depending to carry him on the first solo crossing of the Atlantic from east to west is a tiny Puss Moth, weighing little more than a ton. It is the type of ship the Prince of Wales uses for sports; with this exception Mollison has turned his craft into a flying gasoline can.

He made the take-off at 5:35 a. m., Eastern standard time. Seventy minutes later he crossed over Galway, on the west coast, flying at an altitude of about 200 feet and a speed of approximately 105 miles. The weather was favorable.

At 11 a. m., Eastern standard time, the Cunard liner Ascania reported sighting him 650 miles at sea, racing toward the west in fine clear weather.

Before the takeoff he estimated that he would need 23 hours to reach Newfoundland, which would put him over land some time between 4 and 5 o'clock (Eastern standard time) tomorrow morning. If he holds to his course the first mark in North America he will pass over will be Hearts Content, Newfoundland. The name of his ship, which has a glittering silver fuselage, is "The Heart's Content."

He planned to refuel at Harbor Grace and continue to New York, where the plane will be quickly overhauled in preparation for an immediate return flight.

Kiwanians Entertain Tuberculosis Patients

RESERVE OF 100,000 PILOTS ADVOCATED

Bingham Addresses Meeting of Fliers; Lieut. Comdr. Weems Gets Award.

Creation of a Reserve Flying Corps of 100,000 pilots was advocated yesterday by Senator Hiram Bingham, of Connecticut, speaking before the annual meeting of the National Aeronautical Association at the Mayflower Hotel.

"This may seem like a daring program, but after all it contemplates training only about 1 person in 1,000," Senator Bingham said.

The speaker said aviation was the only modern system of transportation that has been able to show progress in the face of a depression.

Col. Clarence M. Young, Assistant Secretary of Commerce for Aeronautics, outlined recent progress in aviation. He announced for the first time that the Department of Commerce had made much progress recently in experiments to perfect "blind" flying. Radio and new and improved instruments carried in the planes have made this possible, he said.

Preliminary Tests Made.

"We have completed preliminary tests in this direction and now are seeking means of applying the findings to the every-day needs of air transportation," Col. Young said.

Members of the association went to the White House yesterday afternoon and witnessed the presentation of the Distinguished Flying Cross to Harold Gatty and Wiley Post, holders of the round-the-world record, by President Hoover.

Approximately 50 delegates are here for the convention, which closes today following the election of officers and the adoption of resolutions.

Last night the association's annual dinner was held at the Mayflower. The Harvard Flying Club was presented with the Grover Loening Intercollegiate Trophy for the year's best college flying club.

Weems Gets French Medal.

Lieut. Comdr. P. V. H. Weems, Navy navigation expert, was presented with the Aero Club of France gold medal for writing the year's best book on aviation published in a language other than French.

Post and Gatty also attended the dinner as guests of honor. Members of the association heard Capt. William J. Tate, of Kitty Hawk, N. C., host to the Wright brothers when they carried on their first experiments there, describe the work leading up to the first flight.

William P. MacCracken, First Assistant Secretary of Commerce for Aeronautics, spoke briefly. Senator Bingham was toastmaster.

Many pilots competing in the Eastern wing of the transcontinental air derby for the Cord Trophy, starting from Washington Hoover Airport Sunday, were present at yesterday's meeting and at the dinner and dance last night.

Plans for a testimonial banquet for Orville Wright, first man to fly in a heavier-than-air craft, were canceled yesterday because of the pioneer's inability to attend.

Maj. Gen. Benjamin D. Foulois, chief of the Army Air Corps, addressed the delegates. He made a plea for maintenance of an adequate air defense, declaring that "aviation unquestionably is the first line of defense."

THE ONCE OVER

By H. I. PHILLIPS

ISN'T IT SO?

WHEN the market's low and friendless
And the ticker's in a trance—
When the brokers clerks are snoring
And not even bonds advance,
You will search the seething city
For advice to go and buy—
But you ought to see the difference
When the stocks have hit the sky!

And it can't get under way—
When a man can buy the best ones
At most any price he'll pay,
You can't find a market expert
To suggest they're pretty cheap—
But they're full of optimism
When they've taken quite a leap!

When the biggest corporations
See their stocks a dime a pound
And the old and trusted issues
Lie unwanted all around,
You will get a fearful earache
Hearing friends warn, "Don't buy now!"—
But they'll all advise great courage
When those stocks go up—and how!

When there aren't any buyers
And the best stocks are so low
That it stands to simple reason
There's no chance to lose much dough,
You will hear the sagest fellows
Saying, "Soon they'll sink from sight"—
But they never spill that chatter
When they're higher than a kite!

When A. T. & T. is slipping
Till it's cheaper than the dirt,
When Con. Gas is down to thirty
And it's months since any spurt,
All the analysts will tell you
That the worst is yet to come—
But they quickly change their viewpoint
When the ticker starts to hum!

When the motors and the oil stocks
Sell for fifty cents a sack
And a hamper full of railroad
Stocks requires little "jack,"
You will hear the words, "Don't touch 'em,"
From the wisest birds you know—
But they quickly change their story
When to crazy heights they go!

When the market's at the bottom,
As most any child can see,
And a little plain old horse sense
Says "Go in courageously!"
You'll be told by everybody
"They're not worth it any more"—
But they won't be that sagacious
When the bargain days are o'er.

GOV. ROOSEVELT'S PROBLEM.

IT is understood that Gov. Roosevelt can't make up his mind whether to fire Jimmy Walker outright or trade him for two younger song writers and a utility wisecracker.

One of the very best signs of improved conditions in America is that fact that the average man now puts money in the bank again without the mental reservation, "Well, I never could save a nickel anyhow."

Dial Flashes

By ROBERT D. HEINL.

OLD-TIME, dramatic favorites, presented as an experiment by the Radio Guild through the summer, have been so well received by the coast-to-coast audience, according to Vernon Radcliffe, director, that the series may be regularly incorporated in the Guild's annual program.

The plays, some of them belonging to the dim past, so far as popular presentation is concerned, have brought many letters of commendation to the Guild company. "Uncle Tom's Cabin," long ago removed from the legitimate theater, was played with great success. Its revival this year for radio production probably will bring about its appearance annually over N. B. C. networks. "Rip Van Winkle" was as well received.

Dickens' famous tale, "The Cricket on the Hearth," will be dramatized for the entertainment of radio listeners this afternoon (WRC, 3:15 o'clock). This play will last an hour.

Rosario Bourdon, conductor and composer, will turn back a page from the past when he makes his air debut as a cello soloist (WRC, 7 o'clock) tonight. It will be the first time Bourdon, who toured Europe as a child cello prodigy, has given a public performance on that instrument for seventeen years. His featured number will be "Drink to Me Only With Thine Eyes." The Countess Olga Albani, soprano, and the Cavaliers will contribute to the program.

THAT thrill that comes once in a lifetime swept over Billy Page, juvenile actor in the San Francisco studios, the other night, when he was given a saxophone and told to stand in the studio corridor and just blow on it.

As Jack Barbour of the serial, "One Man's Family," Billy was supposed to be locked in the furnace room practicing, and the faraway effect, it was found, could be produced only by having Billy outside the studio door.

Billy didn't really appreciate the task, however, until a hostess rushed up with an admonition for silence, and he could answer nonchalantly—"Sorry, but I gotta do this—it's part of the program!"

ROY SMECK, who makes music on anything with strings, will display his multifarious talents during Nat Shilkret's Week-end Hour (WRC, 8 o'clock) tonight. Smeck will demonstrate how it is possible to imitate the noises of old 97 coming 'round the mountain by strumming a ukelele and mouthing an harmonica at the same time. Roy also can produce by himself the music of three banjos. His numbers will include "Alabamy Bound" and "Good-night, Sweetheart."

ARTHUR TRACY, the Street Singer, will sing of "Reaching for the Moon," and Nat Shilkret will conduct a special arrangement of "Allah's Holiday" from "Katinka" for the broadcast of Music That Satisfies (WMAL, 9 p. m.). The tenor also will sing "Rachem," a melody by Manna-Zucca, based upon an old Hebrew theme; "Stardust," and "Little Church in the Valley."

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS

THE SHREWMOUSE IS NOT A MOUSE
BATS ARE NOT BLIND...
THE BUFFALO NICKEL IS NOT A BUFFALO NICKEL...
NEW YORK IS NOT THE BIRTHPLACE OF THE SKYSCRAPER...
DRY CELLS ARE NOT DRY...
CENTIPEDES DO NOT HAVE 100 LEGS...
ARSENIC IS NOT A POISON...
THE CASPIAN SEA IS NOT A SEA.
TIGERS DO NOT LIVE IN AFRICA...
PEACOCK FEATHERS ARE NOT COLORED...
COLD CREAM DOES NOT CONTAIN CREAM...
THE NIGHTHAWK IS NOT A HAWK. IT DOES NOT FLY AT NIGHT...

THE shrewmouse is more nearly related to the mole than to the mouse.

The bat, though its sight is only fair in midday, can see better than humans in near-darkness.

The buffalo nickel coined in the United States is, literally, a bison nickel.

Dampness in the ingredients of the so-called dry cell is necessary to conduct electricity through it.

Metallic arsenic is not poisonous, though many of its compounds are highly poisonous.

The Caspian Sea is a lake.

Tigers are natives of Asia. They do not live in Africa naturally.

The brilliant colors seen in the peacock tail are due to refraction of light from the black, and hence colorless, tail feathers.

Nats to Face 4 Contests In 2 Days

Marberry and McAfee Oppose Chisox in Bill Today.

Indians Open Series With Double-Header Tomorrow.

By FRANK H. YOUNG.

WITH a mound staff composed of only eight men, of whom Alphonse Thomas is injured and Eddie Edelin is a green rookie who has yet to make his major league debut, the Nationals were loath to call off yesterday's scheduled game with the Chicago White Sox, which made a double header necessary for this afternoon. This puts the natives distinctly up against it, for a bargain day bill with the Cleveland Indians already had been booked for tomorrow.

Monte Weaver was to have drawn the mound assignment yesterday, but the butting in of the weather man has forced Manager Walter Johnson to reshuffle his cards and make a new deal. The Nats still are hopeful of beating out the Mackmen or Indians, or both, for third or second place and, with this in mind, are concentrating on the coming five games in four days with the Clevelanders.

As Johnson figures things out, if there is any gambling to be done, it should be against the seventh place Chisox, so he will hold over Weaver for one of the games in tomorrow's twin bill. Today he plans to call on Fred Marberry and Bill McAfee. Marberry has not been as effective this season as in the past, but will get another chance this afternoon. He has not been worked hard lately, has been showing lots of stuff in practice, and should be able to give a good account of himself.

McAfee Impressed Johnson.

McAfee earned his chance by his performance against Bucky Harris' 1924 world's champions in the benefit game here last Monday. He limited the old-timers to eight hits, no more than two in any one inning, and looked quite impressive while doing so. "Mac" was a trifle wild in this game, but Johnson believes that this was partially due to the fact that it was his first chance under fire. If he is as good as he was Monday, he stands an excellent chance of beating the Sox.

Lou Fonseca is expected to call on the young right-hander, Paul Gregory, in one game today, with the old-timer and former Nat, "Sad Sam" Jones toiling in the other.

Ladies and boy scouts, who have been euchered out of several games this season, will be guests of the Nats.

Maybe Catcher Moe Berg, the fellow with the long string of letters after his name, cannot speak six languages after all. When Ysmael Morales, the Cuban outfielder, was signed a day of so ago, President Clark Griffith remembered that Berg was supposed to be able to speak Spanish and asked him to take the newcomer under his wing. But, strangely enough, Morales does not understand Berg's jibberings, indicating there is quite a difference between native and college Spanish.

Outfielder Carl Reynolds hopes to get back into action regularly within a week. Back on solid food again after having lived on liquids for more than six weeks as a result of a broken jaw, the fly-chaser is fast regaining his strength.

Dan Musser is not the only Youngstown player to be given a trial with the Nats next season, as the Washington club figures on taking another look at Catcher Gordon Phelps, Outfielder Alvin (Jake the Plumber) Powell and Pitchers Walter Masters and Bud Thomas.

League Net Event Starts Tomorrow

Entries Close Tonight for Capital City Play; Stars to Compete.

With the promise of a small, but select, entry list, the barrier rings down tonight on entries for the fourth annual Capital City Tennis League tournament, which opens tomorrow afternoon at Henry Park and continues throughout most of next week. The semifinals and finals may be played at Wardman Park's courts.

The defending champions are Anthony Latona, singles, and Pat Deck and Bill Seidel, doubles, but with an entry of higher caliber than has ever been seen in the tournament, they are rated as having no more than an even chance to repeat. The logical choice for coming doubles champions seems to be Maurice O'Neill and Barney Welsh, recent representatives of Washington in the tenth national public parks championship.

Bud Markey, Frank Shore, Dick Mason, Gilbert Hunt, Bob Considine, Billi Buchanan and Gene Hermann are some of the players entered in the singles. Virtually all the outstanding tournament players here except Dooly Mitchell and Tom Mangan are competing.

The draw will be made at 8 o'clock tonight at the Tennis Shop, 1012 Fifteenth street northwest, where entries will be received until the time the names come out of the hat.

Shikat and McArthur In Bolling Field Bout

Dick Shikat, one of the best of the boys in the business of bone-bending, heads the next Tuesday night card of rassling at Bolling Field. Shikat meets big Jack MacArthur, 240-pound former gridman, who played with St. Mary's on the coast, and also Red Grange's Yankees.

Glenn Munn, who seems to be a comer in the Bolling Field menage, meets the Masked Marvel, and the promoters opine that if he wins, the not very exciting question of "Who is the Masked Marvel?" will be divulged with the ripping off of the mask.

TURNER LUCK FAILS; TRIES TONIGHT

Garibaldi - O'Shocker Feature Show at Ball Park.

JOE TURNER, immaculate in a pearl bowler and puffing furiously on an expensive-smelling cigar, cocked an eye out of the window of his wrestler-littered office at dark last night and was hit squarely on the ear with a charge of rain. He immediately announced that his weekly festival of the flesh would be presented tonight instead.

Prof. Turner hardly believed his eyes, or his ear, for rain may come and rain may go but it never interferes with his wrestling matches. The city might drown for five days under torrential skies, but on Thursday nights the weather always relented and hung out a big tropical moon over the flag. Except last night. It was the second time since the invention of the Gregorian calendar that it has rained on Turner's wrestling night.

Blame It on Goldie.

One reason that Thursday nights are so pure of moisture, of course, is that there is no rain usually left after Goldie Ahearn's Tuesday night shows.

And so the business of eye gouging, ear scrambling and the taking and giving of beautifully pulled punches goes over until tonight at 8:30 o'clock, at Griffith abattoir.

The feature leering matches up Gino Garibaldi and Pat O'Shocker. Just as interesting is the semiwindup between Rudy Dusek and Fred Grobmeier. The rest of the bill tapers down into mediocrity with Frank Brunowicz meeting Son Jennings, Lou Palmer growling with Buck Olsen and Herman Hickman putting his college fraternity tortures on Jack Hurley.

Giants Defeat Reds, 7-3, to Sweep Series

Cincinnati, Aug. 18 (A.P.).—The New York Giants made a clean sweep of their final visit to Cincinnati by winning the final game from the Reds, 7 to 3, today.

A cluster of six hits, an error by Hendrick and a passed ball netted New York 5 runs in the second inning and settled the game. Waite Hoyt lost control in the eighth and was lifted after he had walked two men and pitched two balls to a third, and Dolf Luque finished. The Reds used four hurlers.

Cochet Arrives in U. S. For Revenge on Vines

New York, Aug. 18 (A.P.).—Henri Cochet, who considers himself still the world's greatest tennis player despite his defeat by Ellsworth Vines, jr., in Davis Cup play, arrived today on the liner Champlain to seek revenge for that defeat in the United States Nationals, September 3-10.

Accompanied by his youthful compatriot, Marcel Bernard, Cochet started at once for Boston to begin practice for the National doubles at Brookline next week. After that he will return to New York to practice for the National singles at Forest Hills, where he hopes to lift Vines' title.

The dapper little Frenchman, confident as always, said he considered Vines a great player and his probable successor as No. 1 of the tennis world, although he believed Vines is not now and may never be as great a player as William T. Tilden was in his prime.

CubsNoseOut Braves in 15th, 4-3

3-Game Series Has Gone 45 Innings; Bush Credited.

Stephenson's Single Decides; Braves Miss Chance.

CHICAGO, Aug. 18 (A.P.).—The battle of extra innings raged on at Wrigley Field today with the Cubs once more defeating the Boston Braves, 4 to 3, in fifteen innings of brilliant and erratic baseball.

As the Boston defense cracked for the sixth time in the long battle to permit English, who had singled, and Cuyler, who had sacrificed, to reach third and second on a wild throw with nobody out, Riggs Stephenson stepped to the plate and hit "Socks" Seibold's first pitch to left field for the winning wallop of the game. The wild toss was made by Catcher Spohrer.

The overtime game extended the three-game series between the two clubs to 43 innings with the Cubs now two and one-half games in front of the idle Pittsburgh Pirates in the National League race. They defeated the Braves, 4 to 3, in the first game on the tide of a four-run rally in the ninth inning, captured yesterday's battle, 3 to 2 in nineteen innings and came back to win in fifteen today.

Bush Wins Second In Two Days.

Guy Bush, the third Cub pitcher to take the mound today, gained the distinction of winning two games in as many days by pitching to just seven batters. He relieved Tinning and pitched one inning to win yesterday.

Huck Betts, always a jinx to the Cubs, pitched fourteen full innings before he was retired for a pinch batsman in the Braves' half of the fifteenth, when the Boston rally boomed and fizzled. Clark, batting for him, was purposely passed, loading the bases with one out.

Ford, who had replaced Maranville, then tapped weakly in front of the plate and into a double play, Bush to Hartnett to Grimm. The Braves never got another chance.

Charlie Root and Bob Smith were the other Cub pitchers, both making way for unsuccessful pinch hitters in the tenth and fourteenth innings.

Nurmi to Compete In Worcester Meet

Finn to Run Exhibition Tomorrow If Not Reinstated by A. A. U.

Boston, Aug. 18 (A.P.).—Karl A. Hilli, of the Finnish-American Athletic League, today said Paavo Nurmi, famous Finnish distance runner, would perform at a post Olympic track meet in Worcester Saturday, when several members of the Finnish Olympic team will run.

Hilli and other members of the league have sent a letter to Frank Facey, chairman of the registration committee of the New England A. A. U., demanding that Nurmi be restored to his amateur standing and permitted to compete against the other amateurs at Worcester. Hilli said Facey had already given permission for Nurmi to run in an exhibition event. He said Tom Kirby of the National A. A. U., and his colleagues also had been appealed to to reinstate Nurmi as an amateur and word was being awaited from him.

Nurmi, barred from the Olympic games as a professional, would be permitted to choose his own distance, if he is not reinstated, when he runs in the exhibition event, but if he is reinstated he will compete against other amateurs in the regular scheduled events.

Seven members of the Finnish Olympic team will meet a long list of New England athletes in the meet.

Italy's Best Netman Enters U. S. Title Event

Naples, Italy, Aug. 18 (A.P.).—Giorgio de Stefani, Italy's leading tennis player, today sailed for the United States to compete in national singles at Forest Hills, N. Y., September 3-10, and to play in several California tournaments.

New York, Aug. 18 (A.P.).—The entry of Giorgio de Stefani, of Italy, in the national tennis championships makes it the most cosmopolitan tournament of recent years with the leading players of England, France, Canada, Italy and Japan seeking the American crown worn by Ellsworth Vines, jr.

Henry W. Austin and Fred Perry head a strong English side, Marcel Rainville will represent Canada, Henri Cochet and Marcel Bernard will play for France and Jiro Satoh and T. Kuwabara for Japan.

120 Marathon Stars Seek U. S. Title Here Tomorrow

De Bruyn, De Mar, Henigan and Agee Favorites in National A. A. U. Race; Numbers of Entries Listed.

By BOB CONSIDINE.

ONE HUNDRED AND TWENTY disciples of Pheidippides, the ancient Greek, who ran 26 miles 385 yards to herald the victory of the Greeks at Marathon, will leg it down the new Mount Vernon highway tomorrow, with the National A. A. U. marathon championship at the end of the arduous rainbow.

Four iron-legged veterans of many marathon wars stand out as favorites in this most grueling sports spectacle, which may be witnessed by 25,000 people before it has run its course. They are Paul De Bruyn, Germany's irrepressible long-distance star; Billy Agee, the Baltimore youth, who won the national title last year; Clarence De Mar, greatest "name" in American marathoning, and Bill Henigan, member of the American Olympic team and the first of our countrymen to finish in the Boston and Olympic grinds.

From the far corners of America have come marathoners good, bad and indifferent to make a race of it tomorrow, while Canada has sent a dozen more to swell the list and insert an international flavor into the race, which is one of the features of the Bicentennial sports committee and is sponsored by the Washington Star.

The race will start at 2 o'clock at Mount Vernon and traverse the new Mount Vernon highway to and across Memorial Bridge, then turn right at Lincoln Memorial and down the Speedway to Hains Point and back to Fourteenth street. Up Fourteenth street to Constitution avenue and turn right down Constitution avenue to Sixth street. Left to Pennsylvania avenue and down the Avenue around the right-hand side of the Capitol, out East Capitol street to Eighth street and back down B street northeast, past the Capitol once again, and down Pennsylvania avenue to The Washington Post Building and over to the Ellipse, which the weary and probably glassy-eyed competitors will

Capital Public Parks Stars Win Matches at Louisville

Dooly Mitchell Defeats Terrill, 6-2, 6-3, 6-4; Mrs. Martinez Downs Mrs. Artzberger, 6-1, 6-1; Singles on Program Today.

Special to The Washington Post.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Aug. 18.—Dooly Mitchell, Washington, D. C., 's ranking No. 1 player, fought his way into the quarter-final round of national public parks tennis championship here today beating Harvey Terrell, Birmingham, Ala., 6—2, 6—3, 6—4, while Mrs. Ruth Martinez the Capital's ranking woman player, was entering the semifinal round of women's play by beating Mrs. Jean Artzberger, of Pittsburgh, 6—1, 6—1.

Tomorrow Mitchell takes on peppery young Bob Norton, St. Louis firebrand, who put out Lloyd Tobe, of Buffalo, today, 6—3, 6—3, 6—2. A victory for the curly-headed Washingtonian will put him in the semifinal round. Mrs. Martinez has a chance to reach the fifth round tomorrow, meeting the severe hitting Helen Germaine, public parks champion of New York.

Both Washington stars showed their best form of the tournament in winning today's matches. Mitchell's speed of stroke was devastating. The well-modulated drives of Terrell were just suited to Mitchell's style of play and he scored many placements to thrill the gallery. Mrs. Martinez was so steady that even the best drives of her rival were smothered.

Mrs. Martinez plays two matches tomorrow. Besides her singles encounter, she and Frances Walker will meet Virginia Ducker and Anna Lindeman, of St. Louis, in the second round of women's doubles.

Other male stars to reach the quarter-finals were Ted Drewes, St. Louis, former champion; Arnold Simon, Louisville dark horse; Price Colvin, Baltimore; George O'Connell, Chicago; Weston Painter, Minneapolis, and Earl Bossong, Cincinnati.

Phils Twice Defeat Cards, 10-4 and 9-4

St. Louis, Aug. 18 (A.P.).—The Phillies defeated the St. Louis Cardinals in both games of a doubleheader here today, winning the first game, 10 to 4, and the second, 9 to 4.

Philadelphia batters brought in five runs off Stout and Carleton in the fifth inning to clinch the second game.

G. Davis started the fireworks by tripling to right field, and then scored when Bartell popped a single out of Gelbert's reach. Bartell later went to third on a wild pitch and Hurst walked. Whitney then singled to center, scoring Bartell and sending Hurst to second. Lee doubled against the right field screen scoring Hurst and sending Whitney to third. Carleton replaced Stout on the mound at this stage. A wild pitch allowed Whitney to score and Lee to make third. V. Davis then singled to right, scoring Lee for the final run of the winning rally.

J. Elliott held the Cards to eight hits, while Stout and Carleton yielded twelve.

Red Sox Beat Browns In 15 Innings, 7 to 6

Boston, Aug. 18 (A.P.).—The Boston Red Sox took a sensational 15-inning game from the Browns, 7 to 6, today to gain the edge in the three-game series.

The deadlock was broken when Stumpf tripled off Bump Hadley and, after intentional passes were handed to Alexander and Oliver, scored on Rhyne's fly-out to Schulte in deep left.

St. Louis tied the score at 2-all in the ninth, and the first of the extra thrills came in the eleventh, when both Levey and Marty McManus hit homers.

Track Stars Disappoint 40,000

Lehtinen Quits Race as Hill Bows to Kusocinski.

By GEORGE KIRKSEY.

SOLDIER FIELD, Chicago, Aug. 18 (U.P.).—Temperamental Olympic champions disappointed a crowd of 40,000 persons who came to Soldier Field tonight expecting to see some thrilling track and field feats but who went way at midnight sadly disappointed.

The biggest disappointment of the night came in the 5,000-meter run when Lauri Lahtinen, Finland's Olympic champion, dropped out early in the race, claiming a pulled tendon in his left foot.

The race was to have been a sequel to the disputed finish in the same Olympic event, in which Lehtinen twice swerved in front of Ralph Hill, Klamath Falls, Oreg., boy, and prevented Hill from passing him in the stretch.

Jan Kusocinski, Poland, 10,000-meter Olympic champion, won the 5,000-meter race by about ten yards from Hill after a thrilling duel in which the lead shifted back and forth on the last lap. Kusocinski was timed in 14 minutes, 59.9 seconds. Lehtinen quit on the fifth lap of the fourteen-lap race.

Crowd Boos Lehtinen's Withdrawal.

The crowd loudly booed Lehtinen's withdrawal. Hill received a great ovation when he passed Kusocinski on the back stretch on the final lap but he was unable to hold the lead against the Polish runner's dazzling finish. This race provided one of the few thrills of the night.

Olympic champions who refused to accede to A. A. U. official requests to compete in the events in which they won their titles were Eddie Tolan, 100 and 200 meters; Luigi Beccali, Italy, 1,500 meters; Volmari Iso-Hollo, Finland, 3,000-meter steeplechase; Kusocinski, 10,000 meters, and Babe Didrikson, 80-meter hurdle and women's javelin champion. Jim Bausch, decathlon champion, who was given transportation here, failed to appear at all.

Babe Didrikson, Dallas, Tex., girl who won the Olympic championship in the javelin and 80-meter hurdles, broke the world's record in the discus on her first throw tonight with a distance of 133 feet 10 inches. The mark, however, stood only a few minutes as Jadwiga Wajaowna, chunky little Polish girl, eclipsed Miss Didrikson's throw with a distance of 137 feet 3¼ inches.

Babe Didrikson took the high jump at 5 feet 2 inches and then added another inch before she failed to clear the bar.

German Is Easy Winner.

Ralph Metcalfe, Marquette Negro who tied the world's record in winning the 100-meter dash, did not compete in the 200 meters, and Erich Brochmeyer, Germany, was an easy winner in that event in 21.2 seconds.

An American 440-yard relay team composed of John Brooks, Eugene Beatty, Eddie Tolan and Ralph Metcalfe, all Negroes, easily defeated an Italian team in 42 seconds flat. The Americans had an advantage of about

FRENCH DUCHESS LANDS FEATURE EVENT AT HAWTHORNE

Epinard Filly Gets Breaks In Race

Cathop, Shut Off Entering Stretch, Is Second.

Waylayer Gets Third Portion of the Purse.

HAWTHORNE RACE TRACK, Ill., Aug. 18 (AP.).—French Duchess, Mrs. John D. Hertz's 3-yeaf-old daughter of Epinard, with good racing luck, won the old Elm Purse, best event of Hawthorne's program today.

Earl Steffen got his mount into the lead early in the six and one-half furlong dash and, when C. Corbett, on R. M. Eastman's Cathop, got himself shut off rounding the stretch turn, built up enough of a margin to finish three-quarters of a length to the good. A. A. Baroni's Waylayer landed third money.

French Duchess' time for the distance was 1:18 2-5, and she paid $10.26 to win.

Sun Archer Wins Feature At Saratoga.

Saratoga Race Track, Aug. 18 (A.P.). The program here today was in honor of the George Washington Bicentennial celebration, with a bargain bill of seven races in the offing, the last event being for United States Government or Army thoroughbreds, and to be ridden by uniformed officers of the regular Army.

Heading the card was the Grab Bag Handicap for 2-year-olds at six furlongs. W. S. Kilmer's colt, Sun Archer, sped through rain and over a good track to win the $2,700 purse by three lengths from G. H. Bostwick's Garden Message. The latter finished a similar distance before Z. Ziegler, jr.'s Grand Time.

Sun Archer, coupled with Sun Alley, paid 8 to 1, and gave Jockey Workman his second winner of the day. The time was 1:12 4-5.

Garden Message, with Robertson up, raced Ballos into defeat after racing head and head for five furlongs, but the effort told on both the leaders and Workman brought Sun Archer from off the pace with a rush through the final furlong and scored with ease. Grand Time, the favorite, was outrun most of the trip but collared Ballos right at the end.

AT THE POST

with Bill Bennings

DEAR AL: HAWTHORNE RACE TRACK, CHICAGO, AUG. 18.

They scratched my best bets today. I like to believe that they made me miss a number of good horses. However, they might have saved me a lot of explaining. Ballygran turned the trick for me at a thimble price. Cathop, much the best, had to be shut off to lose for me. But I'm a glutton for punishment and shall be right out there tomorrow battling as usual.

Furthermore, I'm going to try to do some experting at other tracks. I have these in mind: Dis Dame, Keltwick, Daisy Cutter, Clear Sky, Murky Cloud. BILL.

FIRST RACE—As much as I try to dodge possible favorites, I'm forced to string along with MRS. NANCY in the opener. She seems a capable miss and has worked well. It looks like NIGHT JASMINE and MONK'S BELA will battle it out for the rest.

SECOND RACE—ALTMARK gets a few pounds from the leading contenders in this dash, and I will not be surprised to see this one on top at the finish. The improved FERVOR appears best for place, although ARAB can make both hustle.

THIRD RACE — HAMILTON may run his race today, and if he does the test will be over. GAY PARTY could beat these running backward, and may be ready. I'm putting SHADY REST third. This one is a sleeper from way back. Watch out.

FOURTH RACE—Two speedy young ladies will get the principal play in this race, and I can't see anything interfering with their private duel. I do believe, however, that TIMOROUS will take the measure of TABAKU. FANFERN may be third.

FIFTH RACE—WHIPPERCRACKER may make it three straight in this. Meets tougher opposition, however. HILLSBOROUGH is the one to fear. STONE MARTIN for the show, and all of it if the top ones make mistakes.

SIXTH RACE—FRENCH HONEY does a bit of slumming here. Has run with much better and should click. ENGLEWOOD and MODERN TIMES to create the battle for place.

SEVENTH RACE — TROMBONE looks like the money. MEETING PLACE and STARCH for the rest. A good place for a price if you can beat the top fellow.

EIGHTH RACE—BATTLING ON, an unreliable sort, seems to have found racing legs. A spot where he can show to advantage. HAL RILEY and BLUE CLOUD for the place contention.

Stocks Again Renew Rise In 1,762,310-Share Sales

Rally in Last Hour Cuts Wednesday Losses; Helpful News Is Meager.

New York, Aug. 18 (A.P.).—The stock market perked up somewhat in the last hour today, after receiving encouragment from wheat.

The list see-sawed rather feebly during the earlier hours of trading, but rallied in the last hour to close with several gains of 1 to 3 points. The price average of 90 issues, however, showed a net gain of only seven-tenths of a point, or about half yesterday's loss. The turnover of 1,762,310 shares was the smallest in more than a fortnight.

News developments of a character to influence the list were meager, although advance reports that bankers were putting the finishing touches on the proposed fund to finance the movement of commodities may have inspired some of the buying in wheat, although bankers have made it clear that here was no intention of participating in a movement to bid up prices.

Case, off 3 points at one time, closed 3¼ higher. American Telephone likewise converted a 2-point loss into a 2-point gain. Among others finishing about 2 to 3 points higher were Allied Chemical, Santa Fe, Consolidated Gas, Federal Light & Traction, Louisville & Nashville, Southern Pacific, Union Pacific, U. S. Steel preferred, and Timken Roller Bearing. U. S. Steel common was up a fraction at the close.

Bonds.

High grade and speculative issues moved forward five-tenths in a total sale of $12,831,000. Realizing was absorbed without interference with the upswing.

Curb.

Quieter trading marked curb transactions. Prices were moderately higher in a turnover of 280,000 shares.

Wheat.

Reports of completing the commodity pool sent wheat prices climbing. Buying from the East also aided the advance. Corn and oats followed wheat in gaining.

Cotton.

Prices advanced 10 to 13 points after early decline. Trade buying improved the market. December closed at 7.69. Bombay liquidated in Liverpool.

Injunction Asked in Insull Sales.

Chicago, Aug. 18 (A.P.).—Counsel for a committee of debenture holders were given leave to file a petition in Federal District Court today asking that five New York and five Chicago banks be enjoined from disposing of securities with a par value of $77,000,000 which Samuel Insull posted as security for loans.

STOCK UPTURN SEEN AS REVIVAL LEADER

Editor Assails Business Men Who Doubt Rise Will Continue.

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

Business men are sometimes their worst enemies, in the opinion of some economic observers. While the stock market was depressed, or if it moved at all, went downward, business was convinced that the end of the depression was not yet in sight and feared constructive moves.

Now that the market has begun to show advances, overcomes a vigorous attack and resumes its upward course, Gage P. Wright, editor of the Business Economic Digest, calls attention to the fact that many business men regard the improvement of the market with scepticism and are fearful that its recent success must be only the forerunner of another decline.

These individuals, Mr. Wright notes, recall that stock prices and business activity turned up almost simultaneously in 1921; therefore, they interpret the failure of business to register immediate improvement as proof that the rally in stock prices is merely a technical rebound and holds no important significance.

Mr. Wright's weighted average of expert opinion holds this view superficial and erroneous. These observers contend that the 1921 depression was an exception to the rule that a recovery in stock prices usually precedes a recovery in business activity and calls attention to the fact that a study of the eight major depressions in the period from 1861 through 1921 confirms this opinion.

Stock prices moved up six months or more before the turn in business in the depressions of 1865, 1878 and 1908. Business recovery and improved stock prices came within three months of each other on four occasions, in 1865, 1896, 1904 and 1921. On the first and last of these occasions, the business upturn preceded that in stock prices. In the two in between, stock prices moved up first.

Where the business turn preceded the improvement in security prices, however, the interval between the two was only a few weeks, except in the case of the depression of 1894, where security prices lagged three months behind business recovery.

Trade Editors Now Agree Business Is Staging Upturn

New York, Aug. 18 (A.P.).—Editors of trade and industrial magazines, usually hard to convin , are beginning to report there are indications of a slight, if not substantial, betterment in the lines of business represented by their publications.

The trade paper journalists, in outlining conditions to the Associated Business Papers, Inc., of New York, especially stress the improvement in sentiment which, they say, has been most noticeable during the first half of this month.

As an indicator, the publishers point out the downswing in advertising has been definitely checked. Several magazines in the general and business fields, they say, show gains in space booked ahead so that fall and winter activities are expected to reach at least the level of a year ago.

CURB CLOSES HIGHER IN QUIETER TRADING

Moderate Price Changes Marked Sales; Turnover 260,000 Shares.

New York, Aug. 18 (A.P.).—The curb market simmered down to a relatively quiet affair today, transactions reaching 260,000 shares, against 420,000 yesterday, and prices moving irregularly.

In moderate fashion, speculative sentiment first blew hot, then cold. At the close it was fairly hot again and the number of gains exceeded declines. Price changes, however, were not large, except for some of the relatively inactive issues.

Active utilities which closed up from fractions to around 2 points included American Gas & Electric, Niagara Hudson Power and United Light & Power "A," which closed with a small fractional increase.

The oils spent their time backing and filling. Gulf closed a fraction higher, while Standard of Indiana, Standard of Kentucky, Humble and International Petroleum were lower.

The Ford issues were fairly active, moving in narrow price range, while gains of a fraction or more were made by Aluminum Co., Pan American Airways and Swift International.

Rochester Bonds Oversubscribed.

New York, Aug. 18 (A.P.).—Bankers offering an issue of $8,478,000 Rochester Gas & Electric Corporation general mortgage 5 per cent bonds, due 1962, announced today that the bonds had been oversubscribed.

BOND GAIN PERSISTS AT HALF-POINT RATE

Market Absorbs Realizing in Upward Swing; Rails Lead Advance.

New York, Aug. 18 (A.P.).—Demand for both high-grade and speculative bonds continued today and prices moved to higher levels despite realizing by traders who were unable to resist cashing in substantial profits.

The turnover was slightly larger than that of yesterday, sales totaling $12,831,000, par value, and the average for 60 corporate loans stepped up five-tenths of a point.

The day's best gains were recorded by the railroads, a number of which advanced from 1 to 3 or more points. There was no especially encouraging news to spur on the carriers.

Principal transportation gainers included some loans of Frisco, Baltimore & Ohio, Boston & Maine, Chesapeake Corporation, St. Paul, Chicago & Northwestern, Rock Island, Colorado & Southern, Delaware & Hudson, Erie, Great Northern and Hudson & Manhattan.

The thinness of the market was shown when St. Louis Southwestern second 4s gained 20 points on the sale of seven bonds, and Tennessee Central 6s were up 15 points on a turnover of fourteen bonds.

The utilities backed and filled, with the majority retaining moderate gains.

Moderate gains were registered by all United States Government obligations. The Argentines advanced as did loans of Australia and Japan.

COTTON PRICES GAIN ON TRADE'S BUYING

December Closes at 7.69; Rise Is 10 to 13 Points; Bombay Liquidates.

New York, Aug. 18 (A.P.).—A moderate early decline in cotton today in response to relatively easy Liverpool cables and reports of further showers in the Southwest, was followed by an advance on trade buying and covering which appeared to be stimulated by the afternoon rallies in the grain and stock markets.

December sold up from 7.48 to 7.73 and closed at 7.69, with the general market closing steady at net advances of 10 to 13 points.

October sold up to 7.55 and March to 7.96, making net advances of 13 to 16 points and closing quotations were within 3 or 4 points of the best.

Liverpool cables said that local and Bombay liquidation had been absorbed by trade calling in that market, but that business in cotton cloth was checked by the difficulty in guaranteeing deliveries.

Exports today, 7,316, making 245,419 so far this season.

WHEAT VALUES RISE ON REPORT OF POOL

Brisk Buying From East Aids Market; Corn and Oats Gain.

Chicago, Aug. 18 (A.P.).—Quickly answering to reports that a general commodity financing pool had been organized, and would begin to function at once, wheat shot upward late today.

Brisk buying credited to Eastern sources caught the wheat pit in an oversold condition. With offerings meager, previous speculative sellers made haste to switch to the purchase side.

Wheat closed firm at virtually the day's top, 1¼ to 1⅝ above yesterday's finish; corn, ¼ to ½ up; oats, ⅛ to ⅜ advanced and provisions 5 to 12 cents down.

Assertions that wheat was selling below production cost, and that no commodity could long stay in that position, were made much of by bulls. There were also authoritative reports that soil moisture conditions have been bettered in only a few places this year over drought sections which range from the Texas panhandle into Canada, with drought also in Ohio and western Pennsylvania, where soil conditions a year ago were excellent.

On the other hand, export business today was confined to Canadian wheat, 600,000 bushels.

Corn prices were helped by word that Germany would import 100,000 tons of corn. In oats, hedging forced values temporarily to fresh bottom records for the season.

Provisions lacked support.

TEXTILES AND FOODS REPORT PRICE GAINS

Building Also Improves as Labor Problems Near Happy Solutions.

New York, Aug. 18 (A.P.).—A definite upward trend was found in the textile end, sales exceeding production and basic material prices, especially of cotton, have been advancing. More than a seasonal rise was seen in shoe manufacturing, with leather prices showing signs of further strengthening.

Prices in the food industries were reported to be improved in spots and it was noted that the country's storage stocks were somewhat below average.

Observers further find that, in building construction, the volume of private projects was rising; sales of oil and motor fuel were improving, being barely 4.41 per cent under the 1931 period; coal operations, both in the anthracite and bituminous fields, were on the increase with labor problems rapidly nearing solution; cement manufacturers were feeling better as prices tended to harden; welding equipment makers were encouraged by the widening use of their goods; print shops, in some localities, were receiving increased orders; optical goods manufacturers were predicting a fall pick-up, and the hotel and bakery business was, at least, "not sagging."

While automobile sales were not expected to reach the totals hoped for on the basis of the June showing, the publishers found there were growing hopes business would undergo a decided change in the near future

BISHOP CRANSTON DEAD AT AGE OF 92

Dean of Methodist Episcopal Prelates Led Church Merger Move.

New Richmond, Ohio, Aug. 18 (A.P.) Bishop Earl Cranston, 92-year-old dean of bishops of the Methodist Episcopal Church, died at his home near here tonight after an illness of several months.

Bishop Cranston was one of the leaders of the movement to reunite his church with the Methodist Episcopal Church South, and for several years was general manager of the Methodist Book Concern. He served as a captain in the Civil War.

Elevated to the bishopric in 1906, he was dispatched to the Orient. There he played a large part in uniting all Methodist missions in Japan, and then served as missionary supervisor in China, Japan and Korea. Later he fulfilled similar duties in Mexico, Hawaii, Porto Rico and Europe.

In 1904 he was raised to resident Bishop of Washington, D. C., where he remained until his retirement at the age of 75, in 1916

Bishop Cranston was born at Athens, Ohio, June 27, 1840, the son of Earl and Jane (Montgomery) Cranston. He attended Ohio University, and at the time of his death was its oldest alumnus.

Funeral services will be arranged tomorrow. As a war veteran he expressed a desire to be buried in Arlington Cemetery at Washington. His wish will be gratified, but for a few months his body will rest beneath a favorite Buckeye tree in the front yard of his home.

FIRE CHIEF DENIED COUNSEL AT TRIAL

Head of Cabin John Park's Volunteers Ordered to Face Board Monday.

Montgomery County Bureau of The Post, 9103 Conn. Ave., North Chevy Chase, Md. Telephone Wisconsin 4205.

Fire Chief Thomas Sullivan of the Cabin John Park Volunteer Fire Department yesterday was directed to appear before the department trial board, without counsel and without witnesses who are not members of the fire board. He had refused to appear before the board to answer charges preferred against him unless he could have his counsel, the law firm of Peter & Simpson, of Rockville, present, and a public stenographer to take testimony.

The letter was signed by David Tuohey, chairman of the fire board, and gave no reason for denying the presence of counsel. It specifically stated that only members of the fire department would be permitted at the hearing, barring outside witnesses. It directed Sullivan to appear before the board at 8 p. m. Monday at the firehouse.

Sullivan will confer with his counsel today as to whether he will appear and what action he will take.

W. B. Patzer, chairman of the board of directors, said that Sullivan was denied the right to counsel because the matter was purely a departmental one.

Sullivan is charged with nine counts, of which the only ones he could remember were neglect of equipment, misconduct and disobeying house rules. The trial board refused to divulge the charges.

Initial steps to control the gasoline hucksters who have invaded Montgomery County since they were driven from the District were taken yesterday by the Montgomery County Commissioners at their meeting in Rockville.

Capt. Joseph C. Cissel, of Whiteford & Cissel, counsel to the county commissioners, was instructed to make an investigation of all of the legal aspects of the situation, and to make proper recommendations to the board for the control of the hucksters, including just what legal authority the commissioners have in regard to the problem.

Gov. Albert C. Ritchie of Maryland has accepted an invitation to speak at the dedication exercises and celebration of the new concrete bridge over the Sligo Creek on Carroll avenue, Takoma Park, Md., Gordon W. Bonnette, president of the Takoma Park Chamber of Commerce, announced yesterday. The chamber is sponsoring the program on September 14 at 4:30 o'clock.

Arrests Expected In Hijacking Case

Probe in Wounding of Man in Prince Georges Is Being Pushed.

Prince Georges County police expect to make several arrests today in the shooting of Harvey Ferguson, 25, of Meadows, Md., Wednesday night near his home. Sergt. A. W. Hepburn is in charge of the investigation.

Ferguson at first told Dr. James I. Boyd, of Forestville, who treated his wounded shoulder, that he had been shot by a holdup man, but later told police that the assault was made by a group of hijackers. He said that four men came to his home earlier in the evening and asked him to procure them some liquor. He said that he took their car and, accompanied by his uncle, Frank Ferguson, went after it.

Near his home on the return trip four or five men jumped in the car and started shooting, one bullet striking Harvey in the right shoulder. The men then took the car and fifteen cases of alleged liquor and fled.

Edgemoor Site for Farm Women's Market Opposed

Location of the farm women's market on the Bachrach property in Bethesda, at the entrance of Edgemoor, was frowned upon yesterday by Montgomery County officials. Miss Blanche Corwin, county home demonstration agent, was told in effect that continued agitation on her part for the Bachrach location would be considered insubordination and that appropriate steps would be taken by the county to correct her attitude, one which, it was intimated, would be withholding her pay.

The Maryland News, official organ of the Democratic organization of the county, today will print an editorial which will say the principle of a farm market is approved by the Democratic organization, but the property suggested is entirely inappropriate and would be an eyesore at the entrance of one of the beautiful subdivisions in the suburban area.

The editorial, which is accepted as the expression of the Democratic organization headed by E. Brooke Lee, then details the beauties of the section and the unsightliness of the average produce market.

An attempt to come to an agreement at a meeting Wednesday night between representatives of the Edgemoor, Battery Park and adjacent sections with the farm women failed, another conference is scheduled for next week. The farm women met last night in executive session to sell stock in the farm market and elect directors and officers. The meeting was held in the office of Miss Blanche Corwin, county home demonstration agent, who is sponsoring the movement.

COUNCIL'S DISPUTE MAY GO TO RITCHIE

Plea to Governor Considered to End Capitol Heights Controversy.

Gov. Albert C. Ritchie of Maryland may be asked to intervene in the affairs of Capitol Heights, Md., if members of the town council continue squabbling and refusing to act on town problems. Suggestion that the governor be asked to take a hand was made at an impromptu gathering of citizens which followed the failure of the town council to function Wednesday night.

A mass meeting of the citizens of the town has been called for September 7 to discuss the situation and possible remedies. Another special meeting of the town council has been called for tonight by Mayor Luckett.

The council assembled Wednesday night for the second time in ten days and repeated its break-up of the prior meeting. Almost as soon as the meeting started the councilmen began arguing on whether the minutes of the previous meeting should be read at a special meeting. In the course of the argument three councilmen walked out and left no quorum to transact important town business which had been scheduled.

The town treasury has only $495, with $405 due as interest on the town debt and an unpaid electric light bill of $335 to be paid, according to Town Treasurer Clinton G. Light.

The 21 road districts of Prince Georges County will receive a total of $67,452.76 this year, Henry St. James L. Briscoe, jr., county road clerk, announced yesterday. This will mean an average of $133.04 for each of 507 miles of county roads in the county.

The total amount of road levy collected is only $121,143.27 this year as compared to $137,270.59 last year when the districts received $78,487.01. Deducted from the total collected is $2,062.50 for salaries; $15,000 for bridges and $36,628.01 refunded to incorporated towns.

Allotments to each district and its road mileage are: Bowie, 55 miles, $7,317.27; Piscataway, 51 miles, $6,785.11; Queen Anne, 43 miles, $5,720.79; Vansville, 33 3-4 miles, $4,490.17; Bladensburg, 6½ miles, $864.83; Marlboro, 11 miles, $1,463.51; Nottingham, 40 miles, $5,321.87; Spauldings, 20.2 miles, $2,687.47; Aquasco, 17.7 miles, $2,354.85; Surrattsville, 20¾ miles, $2,760.65; Laurel, 16¾ miles, $2,168.61; Brandywine, 42 miles, $5,587.85; Oxon Hill, 26.5 miles, $3,525.63; Kent, 25.2 miles, $3,352.67; Welwood, 20.5 miles, $2,727.39; Hyattsville, ½ mile, $66.59; Chillum, 12 miles, $1,596.55; Seat Pleasant, 18¾ miles, $2,494.57; Riverdale, 8 miles, $1,064.39; Lanham, 18¾ miles, $2,494.57; Berwyn, 19.6 miles, $2,607.63.

SCHOOL CADET UNITS RETENTION IS URGED

Value of Training Stressed by Reserve Officers in Alexandria.

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU, 907 Prince St., Alexandria, Va. Phone Alexandria 523.

The retention and maintenance of the cadet corps in the Alexandria high schools as a Government-aided unit, in conformity with the existing contract with the War Department, is urged by the George Washington Chapter, Reserve Officers' Association, in a letter addressed yesterday to the city school board and the city council signed by Llewellyn Powell, lieutenant colonel in the reserves, and president of the association. The letter asks that the high standards of the cadet corps be protected by avoiding any changes in the personnel, and holds that the establishment of standards of conduct and discipline and respect for the authority of the law and Government further leads to a feeling of individual responsibility and relationship to national welfare and securing which good citizenship demands.

The cadet corps in the two Alexandria high schools was established primarily through the efforts of Alexandria Post, No. 24, American Legion, and the War Department detailed Col. Clarence Deems, jr., U. S. A., retired, as professor of military science and tactics. Col. Deems has recently been relieved on account of the lack of appropriation for his further employment by the War Department.

Private Julian T. Rawlett, of the Alexandria Police Department, was yesterday awarded the merit medal of the Alexandria Kiwanis Club, which is to be awarded annually to the member of the police force adjudged the most efficient during the year, or for some outstanding deed.

Rawlett, who is a first class private, has been a member of the Alexandria police force for nearly 25 years, and was lauded yesterday by D. C. Book, president of the club, as being one of the oldest in point of service, and one of the most reliable members of the force, one "worthy of wearing such a coveted prize."

Brig. Gen. Pelham D. Glassford, superintendent of the Metropolitan Police Department of Washington, was the guest speaker yesterday, and was introduced by Irvin Diener, Alexandria and Washington attorney.

Capt. John S. Arnold, chief of the Alexandria police, also addressed the meeting, and a number of members of the force were among the club's guests, including Sergt. George Everly, Detective Corporal James Bayliss and Private John Kelley.

The board of directors of the Alexandria Chamber of Commerce has entered a protest against the installation of a vehicle-actuated traffic signal at the intersection of King and Washington streets, as proposed by the United States Bureau of Public Roads in a report made to City Manager Wallace Lawrence.

The directors pointed out that the new signal would make Washington street a through street for traffic passing over the Memorial highway, and would cause great congestion of traffic east and west bound on King street, blocking traffic along the city's main business thoroughfare, and would be detrimental to the interests of merchants whose establishments are on King street.

Elmer Carl, 23 years old, arrested by Policemen John Townsend and Charles Miller and charged in the Alexandria Police Court yesterday with disorderly conduct and assault upon the Rev. David Goude, was fined $24 by Police Justice William S. Snow.

Carl, according to the warrant issued, interfered with a religious meeting on Mount Vernon avenue, near Washington avenue, on August 14, and also attacked the Rev. Mr. Goude.

NEW FEDERAL GROUP GETS UNION CHARTER

A. F. of L. Head Declares N. F. F. E. "Definitely Out of Picture."

Charging the officers of the National Federation of Federal Employes with misrepresentation and fraud, William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, speaking last night before the newly organized American Federation of Government Employes, declared the National Federation was definitely out of the picture and can not come back without consent of the new union.

The occasion marked the presentation by Mr. Green of the national charter to the new organization, formed since the break last November between the National Federation of Federal employes and the A. F. of L.

Mr. Green drew prolonged cheers from the large gathering in the council room at the local A. F. of L. headquarters when he declared the National Federation had surrendered its rights.

Declaring officers of the A. F. of L. and thousands of Government employes believe the officers of the National Federation accomplished their purpose to withdraw by violating the laws of their organization and through misrepresentation and fraud, Mr. Green said thousands of Government employes voted against the separation.

Mr. Green pledged to the new union his assistance in all efforts for restoration of pay, return of the rights and privileges taken away at the last session of Congress, and to secure enactment of legislatoin to protect and promote the economic and social interests of Government employes.

David R. Glass, president of the federation, received the charter on behalf of the organization. Heads of various local unions spoke and pledged allegiance to the new union.

Immediate objectives of the new organization, as explained by Mr. Glass, will be to create an emergency legislative committee to place before the public "the evils attendant upon the execution of the so-called economy bill and to demand its repeal at the December session of Congress."

Eighteen units in Washington of the American Federation of Federal Employes were represented at the meeting.

Heat Fells Man in Store; 68 Lowest Mark for Day

Although winds and rain yesterday sent the temperature downward until the thermometer registered 68 degrees at 10 p. m., one heat prostration was reported to police. The highest temperature, 80 degrees, was recorded at 3 p. m.

Today will be partly cloudy and slightly cooler, according to the Weather Bureau. Tomorrow will be fair with slowly rising temperature. The heat victim was Thomas McCoy, of San Antonio, Tex. He was treated by the fire rescue squad when he collapsed in a store at Georgia avenue and W street.

ATTACKS RENEWED ON PAY SCALE HERE

Building Trades Employers Hold Prevailing Rates Are Too High.

Continuing its efforts to effect a lowering of prevailing wage scales on public building operations here, the Building Trades Employers Association yesterday sought action from Comptroller General McCarl.

An appeal was filed asking the comptroller general to investigate the wage matter. It was charged by the association that the Government is losing thousands of dollars through the maintenance of wages which are not in fact the prevailing scales.

Twice before the association has tried to force an investigation of wages on public operations here, which, according to the Bacon-Davis law, must not be less than the "prevailing wages" of the building industry in this area.

Previously the association had appealed to Secretary of Labor Doak and the District Commissioners. Doak took no action. The Commissioners have asked for a report from the corporation counsel's office.

The appeal to the comptroller general was signed by Charles J. Columbus. It read in part:

"The wage rate in Washington is comparable to the highest in the land. We are told that rebates are required of men—and offered, too—in and out of Washington as a result of the failure to keep the prevailing wage in step with economic trends. The prevailing wage set up here and agreed to by the officers of the United States Government is not the prevailing wage in fact."

$100 Reward Offered In Slaying of Shinault

A $100 reward for information leading to the apprehension of William Bullock, colored, alleged murderer of Policeman George W. Shinault, was announced yesterday by Brig. Gen. Pelham D. Glassford, superintendent of police.

Policeman Shinault, who shot and killed William Huska, a member of the bonus expeditionary force, during the bonus eviction, was slain by a Negro identified as Bullock last Saturday when he went to investigate a fight at 39 F street northwest.

PHONE FIRM CALLS ON ENGINEER TODAY

Begins Laying Groundwork to Disprove Utility Figures in Rate Inquiry.

The Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co. yesterday began laying the groundwork for a reproduction cost designed to disprove the low figure introduced as evidence by the Public Utilities Commission in connection with the telephone rate inquiry.

Harry C. Gretz, general auditor, again was placed on the witness stand to explain exhibits showing that the working capital of the telephone company was $1,146,100 on December 31, 1931. This evidence followed a general corroboration of the testimony of Harold E. Doyle regarding an appraisal of the land values of the company by John F. Maury, vice chairman of the appraisal committee of the Washington Real Estate Board.

Today the telephone company will introduce evidence on depreciation through William F. Sloan, of Chicago, a consultant engineer specializing in telephone cases.

Having forced the commission witnesses to make a number of corrections in earlier exhibits, counsel for the telephone company are obviously beginning to set up a reproduction cost that will far exceed the approximately $23,000,000, minus depreciation, offered by William A. Roberts, special counsel of the commission, through Thomas R. Tate, valuation engineer. The commission figure, it is expected, will be raised somewhat by the corrections.

One of the commission's exhibits as to the cost of central office equipment has been withdrawn because of faulty figures and will be replaced.

Man Is Held for Jury On $300 Theft Charge

Accused of taking $300 from a 75-year-old man, while another man held him, Delaney DeSales McDaniel, 22, was held for the grand jury under $3,000 bond in Police Court yesterday.

Levi A. Payne, of Manassas, Va., said McDaniel entered his room here with another man June 11. McDaniel took his wallet containing the $300 while his companion assisted, Payne charged.

ABOUT THE SHOWSHOPS

With NELSON B. BELL

PERSONALLY, I can not see what possible difference it can make. After all as far as the individual spectator is concerned, any picture to him is a first run, and, therefore a premiere until he has seen it. But the fact remains that when the much touted "Isle of Paradise," Mr. Charles T. Trego's personally conducted tour of the island of Bali, is disclosed to Washington audiences at Loew's Columbia today, they will not be enjoying the distinction of a "world premiere."

Through the inexplicable vagaries of booking and due to no fault whatever of the executives of the Loew enterprises in Washington, this exotic subject was unexpectedly slipped into the Globe Theater in New York on Monday of this week and has been playing to constantly mounting audience enthusiasm and, what is more to the point, box-office receipts there ever since.

Despite the fact that the National Capital will not be the first city in the world to make the closer acquaintance of the Balinese, all of the accompanying claptrap of a gala opening is to be provided at the Columbia tonight precisely as originally planned—searchlights, lobby broadcasting, ballyhoo and whatnot.

But to pretend further that it is a "world permeer," in the eyes of the rest of the country, would be to make ourselves just a little silly.

Tonight, at 8:30 o'clock, in the very shadow of the "Pantheon de la Guerre," New Jersey avenue and C street, another hero will be signally honored. At that hour "The Purple Heart," a famous military citation instituted by Gen. George Washington, will be conferred upon Capt. Grover E. Moore, Col. James Van Zandt, national vice commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, presenting the medal. The award has recently been made possible for World War veterans who sustained wounds in heroic action.

In a good-by chat with Wesley Eddy in his dressing room following yesterday afternoon's second performance, some interesting facts casually revealed themselves.

What struck me most forcibly was that when he closed his eminently successful fourteen-week engagement at Loew's Fox last night, Wesley had completed a total of 97 weeks of personal effort on the stages of this city. That is an astonishing record, I think, for any one who has combined the qualities of an entertaining act with the exacting duties of a competent master of ceremonies. And whatever popular impression may be, the two activities are by no means identical.

Mr. and Mrs. Eddy leave town this morning at 8 for a short visit to New York and proceed thence to Montreal for a brief tarry before going on to Lake Placid in the Adirondacks for a real vacation. They then will motor to Buffalo in time for Wesley to take up his new duties at Shea's Buffalo Theater on September 9.

At his farewell appearance last night he stopped the show cold in its tracks.

It was quite a hegira that started from the Fox last night. Betty Compson and the "Star Night" unit left at 2:30 a. m. for Cincinnati, and this morning Irene Weber, executive secretary since the days of Managing Director Jack Stebbins—or maybe before—leaves for a rest at the Ritz Carlton, in Atlantic City.

Consuelo Bell, charming daughter of L. Monta Bell, former Washington newspaperman, who directed John Gilbert in "Downstairs," accompanied by her mother, left the Capital yesterday for Quebec, whence she sails tomorrow for a year on the London stage, many friends bon voyaging her no end these past few days.

That's a swell idea, Cactus Jack, but how come you can't take it over the phone after 6 p. m.?

SPOTTED FEVER WAR OPENS IN MARYLAND

13 Cases of Disease Make Appearance; Serum Awaited From Montana.

While plans are under way for the speedy manufacture of a vaccine to combat the dreaded Rocky Mountain spotted fever, thirteen cases of the disease have been reported in nearby Maryland and one victim remains in an undetermined condition in Georgetown Hospital here.

The vaccine, manufactured in Montana, is extremely scarce. It is produced only by the Government, and the only laboratory is in Montana. As the presence of the disease in the East is only recent, the vaccine heretofore has been used in a few sections of the West.

As the vaccine can not possibly be ready for use in the East until next season, persons are warned to avoid the disease by keeping out of the woods and bushes. Infected ticks are blamed for its origin.

Two Washington children were stricken fatally, and Mrs. Louise Abell, of Bowie, Md., is being treated in Georgetown Hospital. Maryland reported thirteen cases of spotted fever and fourteen cases of typhus fever.
